Nashville Car Accident Doctor Warns Drivers About Dangerous Intersections in The Area

February 05, 2021

NASHVILLE, TN - February 05, 2021 -
In a new blog post released by Advanced Injury Care Clinic, the top Nashville chiropractic clinic cautions residents about dangerous intersections in the city. Certain intersections in Nashville are prone to see more auto accidents every year. The top Nashville car accident doctor identifies the five most dangerous intersections as Bell road, Hickory Hollow Parkway, Hamilton Church Road, Bridgestone Parkway, and 8th Avenue. These see an increase in accidents compared to other corners in the city.

The blog post identifies Hickory Hollow Parkway as the most dangerous intersection with the highest crash and injury rates despite having the lowest traffic volume of all intersections. Its Y shape is to be blamed for the high rate of accidents in this intersection, asserts the Nashville chiropractor, adding it makes turning onto Mt. View from the South difficult. The blog post finds overgrowth as another reason for the rising accidents on this intersection, ?making it hard to see when trying to turn.?

The top car accident doctors advise caution while driving through these intersections to stay alert and avoid potential accidents. Anybody involved in an accident should not leave the accident scene, which is considered a felony as per law, advises the Nashville auto accident doctor.

?First, never leave the scene of the accident. If you leave the scene, it could be considered a hit and run. You also shouldn't leave the scene of the accident before collecting evidence? to build a strong case against the at-fault driver. The blog post emphasizes the importance ?to notify your insurance company if you were in an accident,? even if it's a minor accident.
