James Hardie Siding Contractor Wins President?s Club Award

February 13, 2021

February 13, 2021 -
Indianapolis, IN based JD Hostetter & Associates is proud to announce that they have been awarded the prestigious James Hardie President?s Club award for Top Quality in 2019.

Winning the James Hardie?s President Club is no small feat, as only a few James Hardie siding contractors are given this award each year. In order to receive the award, JD Hostetter had to attain a Homeowners ?Likely to Recommend? score of at least 90% in the third-party customer satisfaction surveying company GuildQuality. JD Hostetter was only able to achieve this thanks to their high quality service and dedication to the satisfaction of their clients.

JD Hostetter is a James Hardie Elite Preferred Contractor that provides and installs products from the James Hardie brand. James Hardie is one the most popular, respected and proven brands in siding. When homeowners want to upgrade the exterior of their homes in Indianapolis, many look to this brand because it provides them with a lot of benefits. James Hardie siding is known for their award-winning quality, enduring nature, attractiveness and customizability. Their wide range of products last for many years after installation, resist fading, endure harsh weather conditions, resist insects and pests and add value to homes. They also have some of the best warranties that can be found in the siding industry. More information about JD Hostetter?s role as a James Hardie Elite Preferred Contractor can be found here: https://jdhostetter.com/siding/james-hardie-siding/.

As noted on their website, JD Hostetter provides and maintains high standards of installation, customer service and reliability (as required by the James Hardie brand). Their team of experts take great pride in installing their clients? home sidings properly on the first try. They provide only excellent and trustworthy service that allows their clients to enjoy the full benefits that a James Hardie warranty brings.

JD Hostetter consults with their clients before they perform the actual installation. During these consultations, they use a 3D modelling program which helps homeowners visualize what the different options in siding styles and colors would look like on their homes. Once a client has chosen the siding that they want, JD Hostetter provides an estimate and discusses other areas of concern. After issues are addressed, a start date is set and a time frame is given for the project to be completed. JD Hostetter has received great reviews for their products and services. Jake G says in a 5-Star Google review that they had a, ?Full siding tear off and replacement with James Hardie Siding, plus all new gutters. It?s now been nine months since they completed the job, and I have yet to find defects. If you want a professional, knowledgeable ?no pressure, take the time you need to decide? sales process as well as quality work done, excellent communication and prompt follow up, ensuring everything is done to your satisfaction, then hire Tom Pantzer/JD Hostetter. My wife was home with our three kids while the installation was done over the course of a week, and she was very comfortable with the crew. His site foreman Tony genuinely cared about getting the job done right, and had a great working relationship with his crew. They worked hard and didn't waste time. I also know why Tom wasn't the cheapest. The cheapest guys we talked with seemed to care most about ?we do more jobs than anyone and get them done fast.? Tom wasn't the most expensive either ? he was fair and honest from start to finish. Bottom line, you get what you pay for. Nobody likes spending thousands of dollars on siding, but we feel relieved we won?t be spending thousands more to fix shoddy work down the road.?

Jackson Payne says in another 5-Star Google review, ?The entire process from sales to installation exceeded our expectations. The install crew was considerate, knowledgeable and hard working. They showed up on time every day and cleaned up before they left. Everyone was receptive to my questions, and any concerns were addressed immediately. It isn't easy finding trustworthy partners, but I'm happy to say we have found one with JDHostetter. We will, without reservation, work with them anytime we need similar services. Thank you, Tom, Tony, Wendy and the entire crew who made our house look like new.?
