Popular for their changing pad diaper clutch for babies, 3 Bees and Me proudly announced that their product is now considered a popular gift for new moms based on customer reviews. The company has been showered with compliments for this particular product and they are now on a roll.

"We are ecstatic to share to everyone how happy we are that our top-rated high quality baby diaper station is now considered as a popular gift for new moms. Many people are giving our product as a gift during baby shower parties," says Holly James, 3 Bees and Me representative. "This is important for us because they are really our target market. We want mothers and even fathers to have a go-to clutch that they can bring anytime and anywhere."

This diaper clutch has received many positive reviews from buyers. In one review by Belle09, she wrote, "This diaper changing pad is so handy and very pretty too. It comes with several pockets where you can put diapers, wipes, some personal items. It is super easy to wipe down as well. I also love that it is bigger than most changing pads. My one year old is pretty big and she fits very well on it."

The diaper clutch is made of waterproof vinyl material that is very easy to clean and sanitize. The large expandable pockets are also helpful in holding baby essentials such as diapers and baby clothes. It also has a convenient wrist strap that can easily be attached on any baby stroller. As for the pad, it is large, but still easy to fold. It has a unique wing design to ensure that the baby will not touch dirty surfaces during diaper change. The pad and the clutch boast a Chevron black and white pattern that exudes elegance and class.

There are so many products in the market today and for 3 Bees and Me's clutch to be considered a great and popular baby shower gift is already a huge success for the company. If this trend continues, they can surely become a global brand in no time.
