September 18, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Mullis and Associates Physical Therapy, Inc. has announced the grand opening of their new 4500 square foot facility in Braintree, MA. Last month, Mullis and Associates Physical Therapy proudly celebrated their 6th Anniversary in Boston. Over that span of time, they have grown in size and expanded their service offerings, but their overall mission has always remained the same: delivering exceptional physical therapy from experienced, highly-qualified therapists in a convenient manner that reflects the needs of each patient.

"We are a 100% physical therapist-owned outpatient clinic that specializes in the evaluation, treatment and rehabilitation of individuals with pain or injury in any area of the body," states Jon Mullis, owner of Mullis and Associates.

Patients receive more one-on-one time spent with their physical therapist during each visit, which leads to less time and fewer sessions to accomplish their goals, and a lower overall cost for each patient.

"As a private physical therapist-owned clinic, we have always prided ourselves on offering many outstanding benefits not offered at hospitals and other large-scale practices," states Jon Mullis.

Their highly skilled physical therapists are rehabilitation specialists who have extensive education and training in the diagnosis of injuries and conditions, and in creating evidence-based treatment programs. These programs are always customized based on each patient's needs, abilities and goals, and will usually include manual therapy techniques, exercise prescription and other therapeutic modalities which are all designed to help get you moving smoothly and pain-free once again.

Mullis and Associates Physical Therapy has received such high praise and accolades over the course of the past six years. During that time, they have treated more than 4,000 patients, many of whom refer their friends and family and return themselves for other issues that they may experience. Mullis and Associates Physical Therapy has been reviewed as one of the best clinics in Boston, with a perfect 5-star rating on Yelp and numerous gleaming reviews on Google. The reputation they have developed with their patients, community and health-care staff has led to Dr. Jonathan Mullis and the rest of their clinicians being rated as one of the top three physical therapy practices in Boston, as well as being on a list of 22 awesome physical therapists in Boston.

To expand their services even further and to better serve their patients, Mullis and Associates Physical Therapy recently opened a second location combined with their Body and Brain Fitness 50+ Group Training Facility in Braintree, MA. The owners, Jonathan and Sonia Mullis, are Braintree residents and are excited to bring their business to the Braintree community.
