Ropa Roofing is now a company that has the distinction of being a Community Associations Institute (CAI) Business Partner Member. This status was achieved when some of the company's personnel studied and passed what the CAI calls their Business Partner Essentials course. Those at this reputable Golden, Colorado roofing company state that this distinction should not only help them improve their already highly-rated roofing services but also show them even more ways to get more actively involved with local community associations.

The Institute states that they are a creation that was formed by industry leaders who want to introduce some critical aspects of working with community associations and partner with member companies to help their own companies become more successful. According to the CAI website, "CAI is an international membership organization dedicated to building better communities. With over 40,000 members, CAI has 64 chapters worldwide, including Canada, the Middle East, and South Africa, and relationships with housing leaders in a number of other countries, including Australia and the United Kingdom.

CAI provides information, education, and resources to the homeowner volunteers who govern communities and the professionals who support them. CAI members include association board members and other homeowner leaders, community managers, association management firms, and other professionals who provide products and services to associations. This organization advances its initiatives by doing such activities as conducting conferences, seminars, workshops, and establishing educational programs that are aimed at community managers and industry professionals.

They also have established an impressive library of resources on community association management and advocate in courts of law on behalf of common-interest communities and their member industry professionals. CAI is also actively involved in researching as a means to establish best practices when it comes to developing, governing, and managing community associations.

The welcoming letter that Ropa Roofing and the other new CAI Educated Business Partners received from the Community Associations Institute reads, "Congratulations to the following Business Partners who have earned the CAI Educated Business Partner distinction. Each has successfully completed the Business Partners Essentials course and is affiliated with an active CAI Business Partner membership. Reference to the CAI Educated Business Partner distinction can be used as long as the holder remains a CAI Business Partner member or affiliate. While the distinction can be referenced in corporate marketing materials, it must be clearly associated with the individual who earned the distinction, not a company."

Owner Brent Roper had this to say about their recent Ropa Roofing business partner certification, "We are very pleased to have become a CAI Business Partner Member. It will not only teach us how to get more involved in supporting our local community associations but will also allow us networking opportunities with both similar and different types of companies to improve how we do business. These are something that we always want to be top priorities here at Ropa Roofing."

This new membership adds to the company's other distinctions and awards which include a BBB best A+ rating, a Top-Rated Local Award Winner, a GAF Master Elite Certified Contractor, and a Home Advisor Top-Rating recipient. Roper says they earned these awards and distinctions by being dedicated roofing specialists when it comes to residential roof replacements, roof repairs, window replacements, gutter installation, and siding repair. He mentioned that his crews are also very proficient when doing commercial roofing tasks such as the installation of EPDM, TPO, PVC, and torched-down flat roof coverings.

This combination of CAI involvement with their roofing expertise and exceptional customer service should help them generate even more highly-positive reviews for their services such as this one which was taken from their Google My Business listing. Mark Van Dyke proclaimed, "I can't say enough about JT with Ropa Roofing. He was extremely professional, kept me updated throughout the entire process of replacing the roof, and provided plenty of photos as well. Plus, their pricing was very reasonable and they completed the work quickly. Overall, this was one of the easiest and best roofing companies I've worked with. I highly recommend their services for any roofing repairs and look forward to using them for my future roofing needs!?

In addition to being one of the few roofing companies in Golden, Colorado with CAI membership, Roper also pointed out that they serve the roofing needs of those in Greater Denver and many of the surrounding areas.
