February 23, 2021 -
Libertyville, Illinois based Simply Charmed is pleased to announce that, after being out of stock since early December on Amazon, their magnetic dog wine charms are now fully back in stock. The set of six cute puppy glass identifiers are a popular gift amongst dog lovers and wine lovers. More information about the company can be found here: Simply Charmed Wine Glass Magnets.

Megan Buller, a representative for Simply Charmed, says, ?Simply Charmed?s magnetic dog wine charms make a great gift for anyone who loves dogs and wine, which is quite a fair amount of the population. No matter what breed of dog is your favorite, Simply Charmed has something for you. One set of our It?s A Dog?s Life wine charms comes with a Dachshund, a Yorkie, a Poodle, a Sheepdog, a Golden or a Labrador Retriever and a charming freckle faced puppy to choose from.?

She continues, ?Seeing as how marking your glass has never been more important than it is today, what with the current global situation, having a cute and personalized method of marking your glasses will go a long way in keeping you safe, in addition to just being a lovely way to brighten your day. Our magnetic charms can be used on all kinds of glasses, even on your coffee mugs! They work very securely on glass or ceramic up to 5 mm in thickness. This means that they don?t have to be reserved just for your wine glasses. Start the day with the charm attached to your coffee cup and move it as you consume other beverages ? from coffee to water to your evening glass of wine, our magnetic drink markers have you covered!?

Magnetic wine charms, sometimes known as wine glass markers, or cocktail identifiers, are a fun, new and entertaining concept that allows people to inject some whimsy into their lives by adding charms that dangle and clink around the stems of glasses. Simply Charmed says that they are for people that like to provide the ?wow? factor when entertaining, or for those that seek out fun new gifts for friends or hostesses. They work on stemless wine glasses and add a touch of elegance.

The company explains that, while their Simply Charmed dog wine charms appear to stick to the glass, they are actually sticking through the glass with the help of magnets. One rare-earth magnet is adhered to the charm, another resides inside the glass, holding the charm securely in place. They will not come off until someone takes them off, and there is no chance of them ruining the glass as there is no glue involved.

In addition to producing wine charms, Simply Charmed has recently expanded their lines to include wine stoppers and pourers, horizontal wine gift bags with custom designs and two sets of silicone wine charms for stemmed glasses. The company feels that this expansion gives their customers more gifts to choose from and (with the high quality wine bags), a wonderful way to present their gifts to their wine loving friends.

As of Fall 2020, Simply Charmed has also added a collection of ceramic jewelry trays. All trays are designed in house and finished with a production partner in Dallas, but the trays still ship from their Illinois location. The company believes that the ring holders will make great gifts as they read like a greeting card but can be used and seen every day.

Simply Charmed has been handcrafting all of their charms locally in Libertyville since 2009. The family owned business takes a lot of pride in their high quality wine accessories, which are not only fun but almost essential in today?s world. The company assures that they always deliver great quality and consistency that has been pleasing their customers for over 10 years.
