March 15, 2021 -
Dozier Auto Service, based in Kenosha, Wisconsin, is pleased to announce that they have launched a new website. The company is known for their Mobile Mechanic Service, which helps customers minimize trips to the auto repair shop. The company?s certified mechanics will inspect and repair each customer?s vehicle on site at the customer's home or office.

Dozier Auto Service?s mobile mechanic service offers everything from common oil changes and catalytic converter diagnosis to emergency road-side services. The new website provides information on all available service options to their clientele. Their mobile mechanic service in particular, is highlighted on the new website as well. To quote the company, ?Once you try our mobile mechanic service, you?ll be a customer for life. It?s like having your own personal mechanic.?

The company takes great pride in the expertise of their team, who are up to date on all of the latest models and repair techniques, but equally skilled at fixing older vehicles. The team can work on all makes and models, including domestic and imported vehicles. Dozier Auto Service focuses on offering a convenient service option to their local community. The company?s mobile mechanics provide a wide range of automotive repair services, from engine diagnostics to brake repair. The company can also have a specialist visit one?s home for a regularly scheduled tune-up or meet a client beside the highway for an emergency roadside repair. The team at Dozier Auto Service also takes great pleasure in highlighting the fact that their mechanics are fluent in English and Spanish, thereby providing their clientele with the best customer service possible.

The new website sheds light on the company?s work ethic as well. One such factor is how Dozier Auto Service combines diagnostic tools with over eight years of experience. This allows the team to give a customer the highest level of diagnostic services, which in turn helps the team fix a car correctly the first time. The team?s certified mechanics are continually educating themselves to stay up to date with the industry?s latest vehicle models and automotive repair techniques.

David Dozier, the owner, is licensed as both a general mechanic and specialist in all types of car repair and speaks both Spanish and English fluently. He has over eight years of car mechanic experience. He also has an Engineer's degree and Associate degree in Mechanical Engineering, Gasoline certifications and a Certification on Bumper to Bumper Mechanics, so he is capable of handling almost any issue that occurs in modern vehicles. Some of the services he offers include complete oil changes, replacing oxygen sensors, repairing loose fuel caps, replacing catalytic converters, air flow sensors, spark plugs, exhaust gas recirculation valves, engine coolant temperature sensors, ignition coils and intake manifold gaskets.

David Dozier makes it a point to treat his customers' cars as if they were his own. To quote the company, ?Nothing is done poorly or broken and left for the customer to take care of. In all aspects of his automotive service, customers are treated like royalty.?

The benefit of the company?s mobile mechanic service is highlighted in the website which states that, ?This service is also unique in that ... he will come to your location to fix your car anywhere within a 30 mile radius of Kenosha, WI. That's an unheard of service. No one does that any more, and I'm not sure how long he will be able to keep up with demand.?

At Dozier Auto Service in Kenosha, WI, the team takes pride in their business. The company?s mobile car repair concept allows for the team to focus on each customer completely, which gives them the opportunity to deliver the best customer service experience while a car is serviced or repaired. Without exception, the team will inform the customer up front about what their options and related cost will be so there will be no unpleasant surprises.

Additionally, if one needs schematics, the company will send premium Prodemand Wiring Diagrams for a small cost, which aid greatly in diagnosis. The team can primarily help with electronics and electrical issues, but suspension, transmission and engine issues can also be addressed.
