Indianapolis, Ind. ? Bardach Awards, an Indianapolis awards store, is continuing their dedication to keeping the residents and businesses in their community safe by continuing to offer customizable products that promote safety precautions.

As the one-year mark of the beginning of this pandemic is approaching, Bardach Awards is continuing to do everything they can to help in their community. In doing so, they continue to offer and expand products that are designed to support safety practices and promote social distancing. Each of these items can be personalized for any business, event, or organization?s needs.

Focusing on three products that have become increasingly popular throughout the pandemic, Bardach Awards wants to help businesses promote clean and safe environments. Bardach is continuing to offer a new product that has become very popular, the Hands-Free Brass Key Chain. This tool can be used to open doors, pushbuttons, and work touch screens ? all without having to touch the objects.

They also offer portable, clear countertop safety shields which can be made according to the unique specifications provided by the individual. These shields are becoming more commonly used at check-out counters and windows where face-to-face transactions are made. Lastly, Bardach Awards is also customizing face masks that can be ordered as a single mask, or in bundles up to 500. The more masks purchased in one order, the lower the price will be.
