Culpeper, Virginia - March 03, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Arlington, VA-based The Heart of Wood is used to getting many accolades but they were exceptionally pleased to announce that they have been accepted into the widely-recognized TreeCareHQ contractor directory. This is something that takes much more than a few chainsaws and a service vehicle to be accepted into. Getting a listing in this directory not only takes into consideration many years of highly-rated tree care work but must be accompanied by a history of exceptional customer service too. That's why so few companies gain entry into this directory and The Heart of Wood is now proud to be one of them.

The owner of The Heart of Wood says, "Over the years my crews and myself have worked hard and treated customers the right way to help leave our tree care customers satisfied with our service. That has resulted in such things as many glowing reviews being written on us, being named a multi-time Angie's List Super Service Award winner, and several other accolades. My crews and I pledge to continue working hard so we can continue to receive awards and privileges that few in the tree service business are eligible for." The company's listing on this directory can be seen here at <https://treecarehq.com/company/the-heart-of-wood/>.

It was mentioned that it's a directory that specifically targets consumers who need specialized tree service in a particular area of the country. Once a customer fills out a short form on the directory's website that states their name, where they are located, and what type of tree service they are looking for, that customer will then receive free estimates for that service from three different reputable tree care professionals in their area that are listed in the directory. Some of the arborist services that are covered under the directory include tree removal, tree trimming, tree pruning, stump grinding, land clearing, storm cleanup, snow removal, and emergency tree service. He says this not only gives those requesting quotes through the directory the peace of mind that comes from knowing their requested service will be done by reputable tree professionals, but they can also save time and money.

Bradley Benner, the owner of TreeCareHQ says that what he likes best about this directory is that it not only benefits consumers but it benefits tree care contractors, too. Taken from the TreeCareHQ.com website, "For Contractors: TreeCareHQ provides tree care professionals all the tools that are needed to build a powerful online presence. This is done by offering directory members highly effective marketing solutions. Among these is our proprietary TreeMarketing.Tech automated conversation and lead management technology, guaranteed Google My Business ranking, and access to our exclusive contractor leads service." Benner added that he likes to think of it as a rare win-win situation for both the listed tree service companies and for consumers that are looking for the services that they offer.

The Heart of Wood went on to say that they have made a name for themselves in the tree care business by offering several top-notch tree services to those in Arlington, Metro DC, and many of the surrounding areas. Something that they have been successfully doing for over 15-years now. Their specialty tree care tasks include all sorts of tree trimming & pruning services, both large and small tree removal, stump grinding, and more. The company's hard work at the above-mentioned tree services has led them to receive many 5-star reviews such as this one from Ronald and Antonia Ford that states, "I had two big trees that needed to be removed and then the stumps ground. The Heart of the Wood performed both of these services admirably for me at a price that was similar to other providers. Also, the men that did the work were very courteous, did a very good job at what I wanted, and made sure that the place was very clean after all the work had been done. I would refer The Heart of the Wood to anyone who needs such services." Those that would like more information on the expert tree services that The Heart of Wood offers can call them, send them an email, or fill out the quote request form that's found on their website or on TreeCareHQ.
