September 29, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Mediterraneo Traghetto, a newly launched website, allows visitors planning a trip to the Mediterranean to compare prices for ferries to main destinations throughout the Mediterranean Sea. Based in Rome, Italy, Mediterraneo Traghetto compares local ferry prices to help visitors find the lowest fare, and allows them to book their chosen ferry directly from the site.

There are a number of ferries throughout Italy that offer travels to various islands and other Mediterranean stops. The new website will make it easier for those visiting the Mediterranean to find a ferry to their destination, and compare prices. The site allows users to search for and book available ferries to Traghetto Sardegna, Traghetto Sicilia, and various other locations throughout the area.

"We want to help people find the lowest rates for their travels," states company spokesperson Alessandro Rossetti. "Our system enables you to search for ferries and then compare rates, amenities, and other factors that will aid in choosing the perfect ferry."

The site offers information on all ships and ferries that travel from Italy to Sardinia, Sicily, Elba, and many other destinations in the Mediterranean Sea. "Helping visitors find cheaper rates allows them to enjoy this beautiful country so much more," states Alessandro Rossetti. "You'll have money left over to enjoy the food, entertainment, and everything else that the area has to offer."

The new site provides a compare feature that allows visitors to see the rates for all of the available ferries headed toward their destination, enabling them to choose the lowest rate, or the ferry that offers destination stops or other specific amenities that they want.

The site also enables visitors to book their ferries direct by making payment when the ferry is booked online, saving them time when they arrive for their travel. A search function allows visitors to select their route and destination, the beginning and ending dates of their trip, and then gives them all ferries that offer those destinations, with rates for each.

Various payment options are provided including MasterCard, Visa, and payment via PayPal. Those interested in learning more can visit Mediterraneo Traghetti at their newly launched website.
