March 24, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

London, ON ? A line of informational videos has been released by the Triton Plumbing + Service team to their Facebook page. Each week through the end of 2020, these educational videos were created to cover all the facts and questions customers may have about different residential plumbing issues. The local emergency plumber hopes to give customers a deeper understanding of the industry and develop an ongoing relationship with customers. ?

The informational videos are titled "For Your Information" or FYI and are produced to keep customers informed about plumbing maintenance and be transparent about plumbing services. Informational topics covered so far include pros and cons of Tankless Water Heaters, Tankless Water Heater Cleaning, Rigid-Flex Shaft drain auger, and home Water Meter need to know the information.?

"These FYI videos were created by our team to better inform our customers and public about possible plumbing needs," stated a representative of Triton Plumbing + Service.?

The FYI videos are a great way for consumers to gain information on ways to maintain their residential plumbing or have a basic understanding of plumbing services. The videos are for anyone in the Facebook community, not just Triton Plumbing + Service customers. The videos help residents be more informed consumers no matter the plumbing company they choose to use. The Triton Plumbing + Service team encourages consumers who still have questions after watching the FYI videos to contact the team or check out their website for more information on the topic.

In addition to their recent release FYI videos, the company is also looked to hire a passionate licensed plumber for immediate hire. The right applicant must be already licensed, reliable, customer-focused, and professional. Triton Plumbing + Service would prefer for candidates to be G2 gas fitters as well, but this certification is not required.
