March 25, 2021 -
SafeAir Certified Mold Inspection Inc., an Atlanta mold inspection and testing firm, have announced their latest video in their series of Frequently Asked Questions. In the video, owner and indoor air quality expert, Jeremy Shelton discusses ?What Does Black Mold Smell Like?? while providing homeowners with warning signs to watch out for. Jeremy and the SafeAir team have served Metro Atlanta for more than 10 years and it is no surprise that Atlanta continues to trust them with their indoor air quality. The video and corresponding blog post can be found on the company?s website under the blog tab.

When asked for a comment about the post, Shelton had this to say, ?The number of phone calls I get, especially during this time of year when the weather is wet, asking ?I think I smell mold but how can I be for sure, do I need a test? Is somewhere between 8 and 10 per week. Mold spores don?t typically have a smell, so homeowner?s are most likely smelling rotting building material, which if not handled correctly will result in a mold problem sooner rather than later.?

Homeowners located within Atlanta, Sandy Springs, Roswell, Marietta, and other surrounding Metro Atlanta areas suffering from toxic mold exposure are invited to speak with the SafeAir Mold Testing team to schedule a free consultation.
