March 31, 2021 -
In a recent interview with a Sydney news channel, the owner and CEO of a leading cleaning agency pointed out that the cleaning industry in Sydney is behind the national & international standards and need to improve compliance to continue meeting the user expectations.

?With coronavirus around, it is more important now than ever that local businesses, as well as cleaning companies, follow strict guidelines to be compliant with proper hygiene standards, especially in workplaces,? he added.

Office Cleaning Commercial Cleaning Sydney is a family-run commercial cleaning company based in Sydney and providing services in hundreds of suburbs across the country. The company was founded in 2017 on the principles of quality, integrity and reliability and is known to offer world-class cleaning services to Sydney businesses at competitive prices.

During the interview, the company CEO points out that the need for compliant cleaning has surged during the past year or so. With the government's releasing new guidelines for workplace cleaning & disinfection, it?s important for cleaning companies to upgrade their offerings to meet the latest standards. ?Our company has already upgraded its cleaning services, practices & solutions and now offers disinfection along with all the commercial cleaning services.?

Disinfection is the practice of eliminating various pathogens like viruses, germs & bacteria from a place using specific cleaning products/solutions called disinfectants. In light of the COVID-19 pandemic, the health authorities have released guidelines along with a list of disinfectants that are effective against the coronavirus. Cleaning companies and commercial premises must strictly follow the safety norms and use compliant cleaning practices to ensure the safety of their workers, clients, etc.

Office Cleaning Commercial Cleaning Sydney is a leading provider of commercial cleaning & office cleaning services to local businesses throughout the city and nearby suburbs. At present, the company has a team of 50+ full-time cleaners to cater to the routine and one-off cleaning needs of its clients.

All the company cleaners are certified & police-checked professionals with good experience in relevant industries. The company offers a variety of cleaning services, including routine cleaning, same day cleaning, after hours cleaning, after builders cleaning, end of lease cleaning, and more.

Lately, Office Cleaning Commercial Cleaning Sydney has started giving more focus on disinfection cleaning. This process involves cleaning of premises followed by disinfection of frequent touch areas such as toilets, door handles, handrails, buttons, switches, etc. Disinfection is a recommended method for eliminating common viruses & bacteria from commercial premises.

?Our disinfection method is proven to be effective against the coronavirus. We use the electrostatic disinfection technique, which ensures that the sanitiser solution reaches every corner and area of your property and removes all pathogens with up to 30 days of protection.?

The Office Cleaning Commercial Cleaning Sydney company is run by a team that has years of commercial cleaning experience. Their cleaners are trusted by hundreds of Australian businesses for providing quality services with safety. ?One of the reasons why our customers trust us is our ability to offer quality at reasonable prices and consistently.?

Other reasons why the company is now regarded as one of the most popular commercial cleaning agencies in Australia include a stable team of certified & trained cleaners, insured services, satisfaction guarantee, all-inclusive approach, competitive rates, and great experience in diverse industries.

Further, they are almost always the first to add any latest cleaning technology or equipment to their offerings. Their iMop cleaner scrubber machine is the perfect example of high-tech cleaning, which saves cleaning time as well as reduces the use of chemicals or water in the process.
