April 14, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Asheville, NC based Greenscapes Landscaping & Retaining Walls is pleased to offer their patio and deck building services to homeowners in and around Buncombe County. The company, which has taken several measures to ensure that COVID-19 restrictions will not negatively impact the quality of their work, is currently fielding requests for estimates from customers in Asheville as well as Fletcher, Skyland, Cashiers, Biltmore and so on.

In particular, Greenscapes Landscaping & Retaining Walls is encouraging homeowners to consider expanding their outdoor space with customized home decks. In addition to increasing the amount of living space a family has, such a structure would also give them a new area to enjoy the outdoors while remaining comfortably within a home environment. Asheville is known for its beautiful mountain scenery and bright skies, and there are few ways as good to enjoy it than from a home deck that has been custom built for this attractive purpose.

According to the company, many in their community prefer to have wood decks built to accompany their homes, and this has proven the most popular option by far. In addition to sporting a more traditional aesthetic, a wood deck's color is quite easy to change, especially if the right types of wood are used. Notably, homeowners who need to stick to a budget can rest assured that a wide variety of beautiful designs are well within reach if they opt for pressure-treated wood as well. In any case, the company is always willing to hear a homeowner out and consider what can be done to bring their vision to life.

This is true no matter how familiar a customer may be with construction or home remodeling projects. Greenscapes Landscaping & Retaining Walls makes it a point to walk their customers through each stage of a proposal in order to ensure they understand what has to be done and why their contractors believe it is the best choice. Barring safety concerns, however, the customer's choice is always final, and the team will only execute a plan once they are sure the homeowner is satisfied with the solution they developed.

On the other hand, some may wish to have a new patio or seating area installed instead. The company has worked with many local homeowners to build beautiful flagstone patios that blend seamlessly into their environment and complement the existing beauty of the house. Flagstones are a versatile, durable material that come in many variants as well, so there is always something to suit virtually any preference. As the company observes, "Flagstone patios are a great way for homeowners to put their creative sides on display for the world."

Those who would like to discuss their vision for a new home deck or other remodeling project are welcome to stop by the company's premises on Tunnel Road in Asheville. The team at Greenscapes Landscaping & Retaining Walls boasts almost 20 years of experience in building all manner of outdoor structures, and they are always happy to share the benefit of that experience with their community. They are extremely proud of the work they do, and customers are invited to look over the results of their past projects by browsing the gallery on their website. Alternatively, they may browse the company's online reviews to determine how satisfied their past customers are.

"Ryan is an amazing landscaper and has exceptional ideas for your project," states a top-rated review from Missy M. The review goes on to add that, "Ryan and his crew have truly transformed our outdoor space and stayed within our budget. Ryan's crew is very polite and professional. They answer any questions you may have and clean up the work area every day. After getting several estimates, I'm glad I went with Ryan and his crew. I got a lot more for my money and more quality work than I could have imagined. I couldn't be any happier with his work, and I highly recommend Greenscapes Landscaping for any project you may have."

Those who wish to have a custom deck built for their home are welcome to contact Greenscapes Landscaping & Retaining Walls to get started today. A full list of the services offered can be found on their website as well. Read further here: Home Improvement Installation.
