AirWorks Cooling & Heating, LLC is always looking for ways to better meet their customers' heating and air conditioning needs. Evidence of this is that they are now carrying more indoor air quality products than ever before. The company has noted that the recent pandemic has brought a renewed interest in their customers wanting to improve the quality of the air that they breathe in their homes. AirWorks now has several products that can do exactly that.

The company owner, Rick Latino, says, "People in the Charlotte area no longer just want heated and cooled air coming out of the central HVAC system vents in their home. More customers than ever before are now looking for ways to better treat that air and we are here to help. We are now carrying a large selection of indoor air quality products. These products will do everything from eliminating allergens and pathogens in home air to making it more comfortable to breathe. Our staff is always ready to talk with our customers about how these products can help make the air in their homes much healthier to breathe."

Latino says that given home air quality can be up to five times worse than the air outside of homes, it's no wonder that people want to do something about this. He says that while improved filters on an HVAC system such as HEPA type filters can help, they are some smaller particles that will still pass through them. These air contaminants not only can make someone ill, but they can also contribute to coughing, sneezing, fatigue, headaches, wheezing, difficulty breathing, and the onset of respiratory diseases. According to the company owner, people in the Charlotte area no longer have to settle for poor indoor air quality with the newer equipment that they offer.

Among the better home air improving products that AirWorks offers is the American Standard AccuClean? whole-home air filtration system. He stated this is a product that will remove over 99% of the unhealthy particles that are found in the air in a home. This includes almost 100% of airborne Influenza A germs. Latino says this is also a product that is certified to be asthma and allergy friendly by the Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America. It is up to eight times more impactful than the top HEPA filtration devices as it filters out unwanted airborne particles as small as 0.1 microns in size. He mentioned that it even comes with an impressive 10-year warranty on its internal functioning parts. The company owner also cautioned against people overlooking the value of adding both humidifying and dehumidifying products to their homes to improve their home air quality. Dehumidifiers remove excess moisture from the air that often attracts such respiratory irritants as dust mites, molds, and mildew. Humidifiers work great in homes where people often have dry coughs, overly dry skin, frequent sinus congestion, and other dry air-related problems. Airworks has products that can help in both of these areas. This company?s willingness to do whatever it takes to satisfy their customers' heating and cooling-related needs are what makes them one of the leading HVAC companies Charlotte NC.

Latino mentioned that besides being able to supply install, and service home air quality improving equipment, they also offer many other HVAC-related services. This includes the installation & repair of ductless systems and central heating and cooling units. The company also provides 24-hour emergency HVAC assistance.

AirWorks Cooling & Heating?s services are also very well reviewed on such respected websites as Yelp.com and Google Maps. Debbie Arerio wrote, ?I have been using Airworks for over 20 years. Can?t go wrong with them. Steve came to service our units ? very thorough, polite, and answered all our questions. Thanks once again, Airworks!? Cindy Joyner stated, ?AirWorks technicians are always on time and thorough whether they are here for emergency service or annual maintenance. They never try to sell more work than is needed. Great service!?
