The firm is LGBTQ-owned and its CEO commits to investing in the LGBTQ+ community and all of its associates.

Jeff Settle talks about the company's business model by saying, "At Settle Consulting we partner with healthcare and education institutions, coaching executives to be transformational, growth-change leaders for their stakeholders. We believe leadership is having the curiosity, intelligence, and charisma to care, nurture, grow, motivate, and inspire others."

When asked about the company's guiding principles, Jeff says, "We have 5 core guiding principles that dictate how we operate. The first principle is to be passionate, about our work and to get excellent results for our clients. Second, we want to preserve our culture of caring, collaboration, and our commitment to quality."

Third, we want to build healthy and sustainable relationships with talented, dedicated partners. Fourth, we want to maintain a positive environment that benefits and fuels our partners' growth. Finally, we want to keep our autonomy and want to be unrestricted by external influences. You can follow us on our Instagram at <https://www.instagram.com/settleconsulting> to find out more about what drives us.

When quizzed about how they intend to bring about a sea change in the healthcare business model, Jeff says, "Our experienced and devoted partners help our clients work towards their mission of improving the quality and safety of patient care through value-based concentration. We stand behind our commitment to quality by surpassing client expectations with value-driven outcomes. We empower our clients by offering a broad suite of services and solutions which span the life cycle of their needs and the breadth of established and emerging healthcare strategies and technologies. Our deep understanding of our client's needs helps us to solve some of their toughest challenges and put them on the path for success."

Jeff talks about the firm's hiring practices and efforts to keep employees by saying, "We commit to maintaining and enhancing institutional culture and client satisfaction drives our success. We aim to foster a work environment that values respect, diversity, and inclusion. Our caring nature and the desire to help make us an outstanding place to work. Our ability to attract, keep and develop exceptional professionals with diverse backgrounds and life experiences helps us bring more innovative and creative solutions to our clients."
