H&W Quality Products, a business that aims to bring health and wellness to the world, has recently launched their hydration running belt. It is the third product that the company has released to the public. This particular product is targeted towards runners, hikers, sightseers, and others who are engaged in outdoor activity. Those who need more information may visit their website at www.HWQualityProducts.com.

"We are committed to health and wellness," says Greg Dunsworth from H&W Quality Products. "This is why all our products focus on alleviating discomfort during everyday tasks. These include sitting, standing and lying down. At the same time, we believe that being active is vital to the promotion of wellness, which is why we have released the hydration running belt that increases comfort during leisure activities."

The company's website has only recently been launched. The website functions both as an informative site about the company and its products, but is also an online store. Customers are encouraged to visit the site and to sign up for the rewards club. This will provide them with information, discounts and more. Additionally, it links to their Facebook page, which can be found at https://www.facebook.com/HWQualityProducts?ref=aymt_homepage_panel, where a community feel is being created. Customers can share information about how they have used the products and how they have benefited their life.

"We really want to hear from our customers on their experiences with our hydration belt and other products," adds Greg Dunsworth. "They can do this through our Facebook page, but they can also follow us on Pinterest at <https://www.pinterest.com/hwquality/>, where we share further information in a more visual way."

September and October are always busy months for outdoor activities. People try to enjoy the last of the good weather and are mesmerized by the beautiful autumnal colors. Additionally, they spend a lot of time preparing their gardens for winter. The hydration belt is perfect for all of these activities, as it has sufficient storage capacity for essential items like credit cards, a phone and cash, as well as being able to hold a 16.9 oz water bottle.
