April 22, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

April 2021, Bluffton, SC - According to Professional Painters of Hilton Head, the final touch is as important as the whole painting process.

The professional painting company based in Bluffton, SC, says cabinet finishes or the last application of color gives cabinetry the final aesthetics. ?The kitchen cabinet finishes allow you to bring out your style and taste. You can opt for a subtle finish or one that pops out,? the Bluffton painting company states.

An important aspect to consider when doing Hilton Head Custom Painted Finishes is the cabinet?s material. When it comes to Hilton Head custom painted finishes, Professional Painters of Hilton Head have proven and tested their expertise.

The top-rated painter in the Lowcountry names different types of custom painted finish. One is natural cabinets that show the raw and true color of the wood used. They only sand and old the wood, and it?s done. The second is Waterborne finishes that look like varnished, stained or painted kitchen cabinets. Then there are stained cabinets too. After sanding multiple times, cabinets are stained for a completely different look.

The Kitchen Cabinet Painting in Bluffton SC likewise noted the glazed cabinet finish. While it is either transparent or semi-transparent, it can affect the color and also the texture of cabinets. Another solution for cabinets is to varnish for a more natural look. For those who prefer an unusual cabinet finish, there are also what they call distressed cabinets. Distressed cabinets create an old and worn-out look by painting the cabinets then sanding or scraping the paint off.
