April 27, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Surrey, BC - Debt management and credit counseling firms in Canada are busier than ever as families, businesses struggle with the fallout from COVID-19.

Surrey, BC based Business Solutions and Credit Counseling Services has seen a major uptick in requests for debt settlement, credit management, and bankruptcy avoidance services since the start of the COVID-19 pandemic. Although many credit counseling firms in Canada are busier than ever, BSCC is a favorite choice for Canadians across the country who lean heavily on their personalized approach, peerless service, and cutting-edge strategies for debt management.

While Canadians, in general, are seeing their economy slowly grind back to life, BSCC debt counselors are urging people to avoid increasing their debt, consolidate it where possible, and focus on improving their credit. They suggest people should not be entirely optimistic about the future and assume payments will be easier to make as income and economic opportunity become more readily available since no one really knows when that time will come.

BSCC Surrey debt counselor Avineet Kalsey says there has never been a more important time for Canadians to seriously think about ways to reduce their debt, improve their credit ratings, and financially prepare for the future in light of the uncertainties and change the COVID-19 pandemic has caused.

“It is not uncommon for people to fall behind on their bills,” Kalsey says. “But what should be far less common is for people to continue to remain behind on their payments while they are looking for work, or facing other dramatic lifestyle changes during uncertain times. Our team is exceptionally well-versed in helping consumers of all backgrounds and all walks of life consolidate their debt and map out a very attainable, clear path towards a debt-free life.”

With offices in Toronto, Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, and Winnipeg, BSCC helps thousands of clients every year reduce their debt and start gaining a level of financial independence they never thought possible. Those interested in learning more about the company, its wide range of services and strategies, and how they can help, should visit the firm's website at <https://www.bscc.ca> and give them a call as soon as possible.

"We are only a phone call away, and we are more than ready to help anyone who is simply willing to take that first step towards a better financial future," Kalsey says. "Sometimes the hardest part is simply making that first step, but I can assure anyone thinking about picking up the phone: that certainly will be the hardest step when working with BSCC because we make every other part of the journey as easy as possible."
