Sterling, Virginia-based Legacy Insurance Group has long been known for the many commercial insurance options that it offers to its business clients. Now the company has announced that its available list of commercial insurance offerings has expanded even further to start 2021. This includes now making available more trucking insurance options than ever before. It's all part of this insurance carrier's effort to stay as progressive as possible when it comes to meeting the wide variety of insurance needs that individuals and businesses in their area of DC, Virginia, West Virginia, and Maryland have. All of their latest insurance options can be seen on their website and are also usually announced on their Facebook Page which can be found here at <https://www.facebook.com/LegacyInsuranceGroupLLC>.

A representative of the company says, "Life is always in a constant state of change and after the recent pandemic that has become more apparent than ever before. Along with these changes in life, people and businesses often require different and more specific insurance coverages to fit their needs. That's why we have always tried to be as progressive as possible when it comes to offering insurance policies that better meet the changing demands that individuals and businesses in our area are often faced with. There is no better example of that than our recently expanded list of commercial trucking insurance options. This is a part of the Legacy Insurance Group's efforts to vastly expand our commercial insurance department's offerings in the first quarter of 2021."

The company representative went on to describe how they expanded the number of commercial trucking insurance options that they now offer. This included inking partnerships with several highly respected A-rated carriers of such insurance products as transportation insurance, commercial trucking insurance, and cargo insurance. He says this has helped them better serve the insurance needs of both their short- and long-haul commercial trucking clients by being able to offer them viable insurance solutions when it comes to hauling different types of cargo across the USA. Among the impressive list of new trucking and commercial insurance partnerships that the Legacy Insurance Group has established include those with Liberty Mutual Insurance, Travelers Insurance, Nationwide Insurance, Grange Insurance, Chubb Insurance, CNA Insurance, Hartford Insurance, Encompass Insurance, Markel Insurance, and many others. The company representative stated that announcements of their latest commercial trucking insurance options can also be viewed on their Instagram Page which is located at https://www.instagram.com/legacy_insurance_group/.

According to the company representative, short- and long-haul trucking insurance are not the only commercial insurance types that have seen new additions to the coverages that the group now offers. Another significant change in their commercial insurance division is the expansion of the services they offer to those businesses in their general contractor insurance program. This has enabled them to better accommodate the general liability and worker's compensation insurance needs of their client general contractors and their associated subcontractors. Some examples of the tough to place general contracting businesses that now have more options available to them are roofers, movers, moving companies, and more. He mentioned that they at the Legacy Insurance Group can now quickly provide the often required one million dollars of general liability insurance & workers compensation insurance that many area businesses need and then promptly deliver the certificates that verify these new coverages.

The company representative says they at the Legacy Insurance Group are also pleased to announce that they are now offering new types of habitational insurance coverages for multi-family real estate investors who buy apartment buildings and condominiums. Part of which is their unique master insurance policies for condo associations, condo buildings, as well as homeowners' associations in both residential neighborhoods and apartment buildings. He stated that for any type of insurance coverage that a condo board of directors, real estate investors, unit owners, and tenants need, they at the Legacy Insurance Group have a solution for that.

He added that those in their area that are interested in getting quotes for the new commercial insurance products and other insurances that they offer can do so by going to <https://www.legacyinsurancegroup.org/quotes/>.
