May 03, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Top-rated Vancouver SEO agency 1st on the List is pleased to announce their newly published Google Street View 360 virtual tour of their head office in Abbotsford, BC. They are leveraging the Google-IPSOS study, which reveals that businesses with a virtual tour had two times more interest from customers to call and book than those without one. Since launching its new virtual tour in just one month, it has generated 576 views and counting. Proposal requests continue to pour in for this company's SEO and web design services.

CEO Chris Genge said, "Since our service is purely digital in nature, prospective clients want the assurance they're hiring a legitimate, credible and professional agency. One of the ways to do this is to show them our professional workspace. However, we did not have a way to showcase this. So we contracted Sherman Hu, a Google Street View Trusted Photographer, to help us showcase our office in a virtual tour."

The team at 1st on the List work remotely due to Covid restrictions, so this was a perfect opportunity to capture a virtual tour of the office. Hu produced the virtual tour and published it to the company's Google My Business map listing. Interested clients can view the embedded virtual tour on the company's website.

"Since we're new to virtual tours and their impact, we were pleasantly surprised when Sherman updated us with our view metrics. Since launching the new virtual tour in just one month, it has generated 576 views and counting. We're pleased we're receiving a few more proposal enquiries for our SEO and web design services." said Keiran Griffiths, 1st on the List's Client Success Consultant.

The 1st on the List team is pleased to showcase their newly published Google Street View 360 virtual tour of their head office in Abbotsford, BC. "If the Google-IPSOS study is accurate about virtual tours generating double the interest from customers, then we're looking forward to receiving more interest for our web design and SEO services," says Genge.

Prospective clients curious about the 1st on the List office can view their Google Street View on their GMB map listing or website. Prospective clients who want a proposal for their SEO and web design services can fill out a form requesting this.
