Fleet Cost & Care Offers Heavy Equipment Fleet Inventory Software

May 14, 2021

DETROIT, MI - May 14, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Detroit, MI based Fleet Cost & Care is pleased to announce that they are offering heavy equipment fleet inventory software to the local community. This is a part of the fleet management apps that the company is offering to local businesses in order to allow them to manage their fleet of vehicles effectively from anywhere and on the go. The software is beneficial to a company of any size and will help schedule their heavy equipment and staff.

The company developed this software with heavy equipment rental services in mind, and the Fleet Cost & Care system provides businesses with the ability to view the schedule of their inventory in an efficient and convenient manner. With this software, scheduling shifts is much easier and effective because the business knows exactly where various resources are and what schedules they are assigned.

President of Fleet Cost & Care Jeff Curran says, "We offer the only comprehensive fleet operations system available. We're more than just a dispatching tool, we're a comprehensive operations system and technology partner. Renting heavy equipment involves much more than just scheduling a job and dispatching equipment. With our NexGen system, you empower your employees and operations to run more smoothly, with limited interruptions and issues, leading to a more efficient and profitable business.? The use of mobile fleet management apps is cost and time efficient for companies ? and helps ease the burden of organization for the owner.

The NexGen fleet management software has proven useful to heavy equipment rental companies in systemizing and simplifying their day-to-day operations. From the quoting and scheduling of various jobs, invoicing customers and even handling payroll, the software is capable of making the entire process easier and more methodical. Businesses gain the advantage of spending less time on administrative tasks, which in turn enables them to increase time spent on jobs that produce revenue, have a more efficient payroll system and help their employees work smarter. The Fleet Cost & Care system also helps to eliminate standalone systems. It offers a proven and easy to use accessible mobile solution that supports comprehensive reporting and forecasting. This also allows the company to work with experts and professionals in the field.

Businesses which use this platform are able to get rid of standalone systems, allowing them to save time, enhance data accuracy and boost profit margins. Since the way people work has been simplified, there is a higher productivity across all departments in the company. The comprehensive technology offered by Fleet Cost & Care allows both fleet managers and employees to create quotes, enter work orders, schedule and monitor ongoing jobs, provide entries for payroll and even conduct safety inspections simply by using any of their mobile devices (such as tablets and smartphones) as well as desktop and laptop computers. The software also boasts reporting and analytical capabilities, which contribute to better decision making and sharing of information. The businesses working with Fleet Cost & Care benefit from having access to the best fleet management consulting services in the field.

The Atom software is a comprehensive mobile fleet management app designed to help fleet owners manage operations through a mobile device. Dispatch managers, sales managers, service managers and operators can utilize Atom to create quotes and work orders, enter data on labor for payroll, assign jobs to mechanics, perform safety checklists, capture signatures on a project site and monitor the status of ongoing jobs at any time (and from anywhere). All tasks done via the Atom app can be synchronized simultaneously with the NexGen software so that data on work being performed on the field can be instantly accessed by administrative staff in the office. This app can improve the efficiency of payroll by eliminating the need to re-enter data from one software to the next. The Atom software allows everything to be done on the tablet or smartphone.

Fleet Cost & Care is made up of industry experts ? including former dispatchers, crane operators, service department managers and accountants. The team leaders are composed of people with many years of experience regarding fleet ownership, and they are committed to the industry. The company also places great importance on the needs of their clientele.
