MIAMI ? Stow Simple, a startup business, announced a new self storage concept today, offering residents of multiple Miami area cities a service that drops off storage bins and then picks them up for secure storage. The company eliminates a number of difficulties associated with the traditional self storage process. Customers do not need to move items themselves to the storage facility. Fees are proportional to actual storage space used, rather than a flat rate for a storage unit.

?We are on a mission to make storage easy,? said Jorge Camps, Co-Founder and Head of Operations. ?Just book a time online or call us. We show up and drop off durable plastic bins for you to pack your stuff. We'll even wait up to 20 minutes for you to pack your items. If you need more time, don't worry. We'll come back to pick up your packed bins and any oversized items.?

Stow Simple offers an alternative to moving boxes to a storage facility. As mentioned in a recent Miami Herald article, Stow Simple was a runner-up in this year's Miami Herald Business Plan Challenge. The company is part of an overall trend of ?on-demand? services that are changing the way American consumers use service businesses.

Store Simple can arrive with storage bins within 24 hours, though appointments can be schedule as far as up to one month in advance. Typical delivery hours are Tuesday through Saturday 8AM - 7PM. The company is able to share digital photos of stored items in its climate-controlled facility to ensure that customers are satisfied with the storage process and that they can confirm the inventory. Customers can order the retrieval and return delivery of items online.

Currently, Store Simple is serving the areas of Brickell, Greater Downtown Miami, Key Biscayne, Miami Beach, Coconut Grove and Coral Gables. Click <https://www.stowsimple.com> to learn more.
