May 11, 2021 -
White Duck Outdoors is becoming increasingly known for their canvas tents, which can be used as a glamping tent for glamping businesses of all sizes. With 4-season, functional glamping tents like the Avalon bell tent and Alpha wall tent, new business owners are turning to White Duck Outdoors for post-pandemic recovery by launching new businesses.

Salt Lake City, Utah, The United States: Glamping sites and glamping tent businesses invest in high end tents to provide guest stays in secluded, beautiful locations across the country. These luxury tents are perfect for existing glamping businesses looking to expand their reach, or newer business owners starting up for the first time.

White Duck Outdoors offers both wall tents and bell tents constructed from 100% army duck canvas. They are not only durable when properly maintained, but the canvas is also breathable and ensures a comfortable experience.

All glamping tents from White Duck Outdoors come with a built-in stove jack, windows, bug mesh, secure doors, flooring and functionality like pocket organizers and electrical outlets.

While glamping is more common during warmer months, it?s also a fantastic winter getaway.

Glamping tents from White Duck Outdoors benefit not just glamping business owners, but also people looking to get out of their homes and experience unique vacations, while maintaing social distancing and being outdoors.

Lockdowns across the country had forced small businesses to close for extended periods of time. By investing in a glamping tent from White Duck, entrepreneurial people are able to start up glamping businesses.

As an investment, a glamping bell tent comes with a fairly small up front cost, especially when compared with building a dome or a treehouse for glamping. Canvas glamping tents from White Duck are also extremely price competitive, especially considering all the features they?re equipped with.

Staying in a glamping tent is also great for guests, as it gives them a way to take on new adventures while adhering to COVID-19 guidelines. Glamping is a growing segment in the US and glamping tents are facilitating its growth.

The return on investment in the glamping industry is huge if done correctly, especially as more people are unable to travel internationally.

The so-called staycations are meant to be local. Hotels are often overcrowded, and social distancing measures cannot always be applied. From this point of view, more and more people turn to glamping, and White Duck Outdoors glamping tents are ideal for this.

White Duck Outdoors canvas tents are used across glamping sites, schools, vineyards, military bases and more.
