They cover a wide range of window and door materials such as vinyl, wood, fiberglass, and aluminum.

The company takes pride in the service it provides. It has named its process of serving customers The Newman Signature Experience. It is a distillation of the best practices that the company has learned through its experience of almost 30 years.

The first part of the signature experience is a free, in-home discovery session with the company's window and door experts. The purpose of the session to listen to the customer and glean all the details regarding their requirements. The company's experts have dealt with almost all the problems that arise with window and door installations many times over which is why they know the right questions to ask. By the end of the discovery session, the company will have a clear understanding of the look and feel that the customer is trying to achieve.

The second step is to order the actual products. The company's technicians take all the measurements and coordinate with the team that performed the discovery session to pick out the appropriate products. The process is transparent to the user as they don't have to worry about the details. The company's experienced team handles all the nitty-gritty, giving the customers the peace of mind they seek.

The third step is the actual installation of the products. The company's professionals show up on time, are courteous all the way through, and answer all the pressing questions that the customer might have. Newman Windows & Doors does not hire subcontractors like its competitors. The company eschews cost-cutting measures such as hiring subcontractors in favor of providing the best customer service and work quality. The company instead focuses on hiring or training InstallationMasters Certified Installers. InstallationMasters is a nationwide training and certification program for new construction and replacement installers of windows and exterior glass doors in residential and light commercial markets. The certification instills confidence in the customers that they are being served by the most qualified contractors in the market.

Finally, the company offers ongoing support under warranty. If any issues arise, they will gladly send someone over to look at them and fix them promptly. The company is confident enough to guarantee that their installation will match the lifespan of the house. This degree of reliability is the reason that the company claims that they been a customer favorite for almost 3 decades.

A spokesperson for the company talks about its service by saying, "We are extremely proud of our track record of customer service. It has been possible due to our rock-solid dedication and intense focus. We never cut corners and we never skimp on the details. We realize that we are in an industry that affects the health and safety of our customers. We do our best on every job because we know that a home is forever. A shoddily done installation or repair may end up doing real damage to the home's residents or a business's customers further down the road. We put the best foot forward when it comes to work quality and back it up with polite and attentive customer service. If you are looking for a window installation or window replacement in Orange County, you will not find a better partner."
