Advanced Injury Care Clinic in Nashville Explains Common Injuries Associated With Rear-End Car Accidents

May 12, 2021

NASHVILLE, TN - May 12, 2021 -

Nashville-based Advanced Injury Care Clinic has posted on its blog a detailed list of common injuries from rear-end collisions. The blog post explains that a rear-end collision often results in pain and suffering for victims, who have to deal with the cost of medical bills and ongoing treatment as the recovery could take months or years. The blog post can be read here: https://www.advancedinjurycareclinic.com/blog/common-injuries-associated-with-rear-end-car-accidents.

Advanced Injury Care Clinic explains that all forms of rear-end accidents can cause severe injuries, including those at low speeds.

The blog post advises seeing a Nashville car accident chiropractor after an accident. At the top of the list of rear-end collision injuries is a whiplash injury, followed by spine and back injuries. The blog post lists head trauma next, as the headrest, window, steering wheel, or airbag puts the driver at a high risk of traumatic brain injury in a rear-end collision. Broken bones and ribs are common in car accidents. Next on the list of common rear-end collision injuries are wrist and arm injuries.

Both the driver and passengers are vulnerable to wrist, arm, and facial injuries. In some cases, the blog post states, the injuries might cause facial paralysis. A skilled personal injury attorney is experienced at helping victims of car accidents deal with insurance companies and protecting their rights. The best car accident injury treatment in Nashville is available at Advanced Injury Care Clinic, where the best chiropractors help find the root cause of pain in victims to speed up their recovery from injuries. In a previous press release, Advanced Injury Care Clinic shares tips for choosing the best car accident chiropractor.

The blog post suggests receiving injury treatment as soon as possible to allow the body time to heal fully. Chiropractic adjustments are meant to realign the spine to alleviate the pressure of the affected nerves to bring quick relief from symptoms. Another focus of auto accident chiropractors in Nashville is to promote self-healing. The blog post also emphasizes the urgency to seek medical attention from an experienced chiropractor immediately after a car crash for early diagnosis of injuries after an auto accident.

Nashville car accident chiropractors focus on improving the range of motion, especially in victims that experience stiffness in their neck and back after an accident due to inflammation, misaligned joints in the spine, and scar tissue formation. Nashville car accident chiropractic care can restore and improve the range of motion by mobilizing and realigning the spine. Chiropractors in Nashville provide all-natural treatment to treat accident injuries like soft tissue injuries without the need for addictive pain medications or invasive surgeries. Chiropractic adjustments help patients recover from rear-end collision injuries.

Any person injured in a car accident deserves the best chiropractic help in Nashville. The top Nashville car accident chiropractors are available at the Advanced Injury Care Clinic. Their chiropractors help improve the quality of life of accident victims and can refer them to the best accident injury attorney to help with their financial recovery.
