September 26, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Earlier today, 3 Bees and Me announced that their car and SUV sunshade now has money-back guarantee. The policy is still in line with the company's efforts to ensure customer satisfaction. They have also made it clear that they want their customers to have risk-free shopping at all times.

"We are very excited to share with you the good news about the implementation of the money-back guarantee policy for our premium-quality car sunshade that is highly popular. We believe that this is important so that everyone will have a risk-free shopping experience," says Holly James, 3 Bees and Me representative. "While we are very confident with the quality of our product, we still think that there should always be a policy protecting the consumers. We are very grateful that so far, all those who have bought our car shade are very happy with not only its quality, but the design as well."

If the reviews will be considered, it is safe to say that the policy is just an added bonus for the customers. The shades have continuously received good reviews from users. In a review by Vanessa Owens, she wrote, "I purchased this to protect my soon-to-be-here son from the sun rays when he is in the backseat. I was a little worried since we do not have tinted windows and I know I cannot keep an eye on him all the time while driving to make sure that he is comfortable. These shades lessen the sun rays considerably. Not to mention that they are super cute, I have had a few compliments about them already. The suction cups make installing the shades really easy and the shades pop up easily after taking them out of their packaging. I am very pleased with the purchase and think that these will make future rides during a sunny day much more comfortable for my son.?

This sunshade was designed to fit most car and SUV brands. It is made of high-quality nylon mesh material that can easily be folded when not in use. Each set comes with two shades as well as two extra suction cups. It also boasts a kid-friendly cute dog design targeted for babies and kids. What sets it apart from other brands is that it is a shade or two darker. The shade will block the glaring rays of the sun while also allowing light to pass through it.

Again, 3 Bees and Me now has money-back guarantee. The sun shade is still available online at Amazon.com.
