The Belle Âme Med Spa, based in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, has published an article on their website about the uses and benefits of microneedling with SkinPen. The Spa offers the treatment at their center and also offers a wide range of non-invasive treatments for skin and body.

There are many benefits to gain from the SkinPen microneedling procedure. The treatment stimulates collagen and elastin production and has been shown to improve the appearance of pockmarks and scarring of the skin. The procedure also complements acne treatments and reduces fine lines and wrinkles. The consistency of skin tone and the texture are shown to improve after this procedure as well. The SkinPen is recognized as one of the best, most technologically advanced skin rejuvenation treatments. It is a type of collagen-induced therapy that treats all sorts of skin imperfections. SkinPen is a minimally invasive procedure, shows quick results and is recommended by a great number of skincare professionals. SkinPen can be used on all skin tones and types and is approved for use on all parts of the body, including arms, legs, abdomen, neck and face.

Belle Âme Med Spa and CoolSculpting Center explains how the procedure works in the post. The SkinPen uses microneedling to penetrate the depressions on the skin and helps the body smooth them out with collagen. This technique works by creating controlled microscopic incisions on the skin which stimulate a healing response, causing the body to produce more collagen and elastin. The treatment will also make skin more open to receiving products, increasing their efficacy. While microneedling is not a new concept, SkinPen represents a unique innovation in this field.

Before the procedure, the client will talk to the esthetician about the result they hope to achieve with SkinPen. The current state of the skin will also be discussed in order to determine a course of treatment, including how many treatments are needed and how often. The majority of patients need around two or three sessions, which should be around 6-8 weeks apart. However, if a client has deep scarring or wrinkles, they will likely need anywhere from 6-8 sessions. The side effects are quite mild: the skin may look flushed and some may notice some mild swelling; however, it most likely will not be severe enough for the client to feel uncomfortable going out in public.

The esthetician will determine the depth of penetration required for the client's specific skin-type. Then they will attach a clean cartridge that contains tiny micro-needles to the SkinPen and apply a clean layer of topical serum to their skin. They will glide the SkinPen across the client's face to start getting rid of the depressions in the skin. The duration of a session may last anywhere between 15-30 minutes, depending on the size of area and condition of the skin.

The Belle me Med Spa would also like to highlight that, amid other news of developments in this field, the treatment is the first of its kind to have FDA approval and to be suitable for anyone over 22 years of age. The Spa is also able to increase the effectiveness of SkinPen by supplementing it with Platelet-Rich Plasma. This procedure involves injecting or topically applying a client's own blood platelets to the skin after microneedling with a SkinPen. After blood is drawn, it is taken through a centrifugal process that separates the platelet-rich plasma from other blood components and can then be applied to the treatment area. The process has been shown to improve the healing process that microneedling triggers, thereby affecting an even more thorough rejuvenation of the skin than is possible with microneedling alone.

The Belle me Med Spa believes in offering the perfect approach to aging with grace and enhancing the beauty that is unique to an individual. This takes balance, finesse, attention to the cues an individual's skin and body provides, and above all, experience and expertise. The Belle me Med Spa offers medical grade, professional treatments for skin rejuvenation, laser based and other high-tech aesthetic approaches, and body contouring. The ambiance of the Spa and the attentive staff, as well as the thorough consultations and treatment, helps create an experience that a client will not find elsewhere. Unlike most other centers which usually rely on an off-site medical advisor, Belle me is owned and personally managed by a medical doctor and a team of medical professionals who personally care about the patients and their results.
