Arrowhead Clinic in Marietta Explains Who is Responsible for Paying for Car Accident Chiropractic Care

May 18, 2021

Marietta, Georgia - May 18, 2021 -

Arrowhead Clinic is a trusted chiropractic name in Marietta, GA, among car accident victims who seek chiropractic treatment for back or neck injuries. Timely treatment helps avoid long-term consequences. An experienced Marietta car accident chiropractor can help accident injury victims recover from injuries and pain symptoms. In a recent blog post, the chiropractic clinic explains that the at-fault driver's insurance company is responsible for paying for damages and medical assistance to the victim. This includes chiropractic care. The blog post can be read here: https://www.arrowheadclinic.com/marietta/do-insurance-companies-pay-for-chiropractors.

Dr. Erin Riley, the leading Marietta car accident doctor, discusses how to get insurance companies to pay for chiropractic bills after a car crash. Dr. Riley states that sometimes the victim?s auto insurance may cover necessary treatments for injuries that have resulted from a car wreck, including chiropractic care. For serious injuries that require multiple visits to the doctor after the accident, the treatments might be billed to the insurance company, depending on your insurance policy. In a recent press release, Arrowhead Clinic in Marietta shares tips to maximize car accident settlements.

A victim of a car accident who was also partly responsible for the accident needs personal injury coverage on their policy to cover their medical costs. Dr. Riley explains that the insurance company will pay for the treatment if the other party was at fault. Liability insurance covers these types of medical expenses. The personal injury settlement will cover the Marietta chiropractic care costs that were necessary for the victim?s full recovery. According to the state of Georgia law, all reasonable medical expenses arising from a personal injury are a form of economic damage.

Dr. Riley asserts that most insurance companies argue that chiropractic care is not medically necessary for the victims. Car accident victims should seek legal help from the top Marietta personal injury attorneys to fight the insurance claim. Victims of motor vehicle accidents should seek chiropractic care in Marietta, GA, for a speedy and complete recovery from pain and injuries.
