May 27, 2021 -
Lemont, Illinois based Crane Network LLC is pleased to share that they are offering loader backhoes for sale on their website. The company offers both new and second-hand equipment for sale while offering certain equipment for hire as well. Crane Network, an online resource that connects buyers and sellers of cranes, loader backhoes and similar heavy equipment, has made available a wide range of equipment for both rent and sale.

The company website provides a list of equipment ads for these purposes, divided into a number of pages. Every product from the list provides images and descriptions as well as a list of specifications. A user may filter their search by type, manufacturer, brand and many other product specifications. The equipment filters are set to make the process of finding the desired equipment easier for all potential clients. Some options are available for direct sale, and some are available through auction as well.

The website allows anyone to search for recently sold loader backhoes to get an idea of the kind of inventory that is available and the kind of price that they can expect to pay. This helps customers make an informed decision by studying the current market rates of backhoe sales and rentals. The transparency of the data is one of the biggest strengths of Crane Network and its accompanying sites. The site also provides clientele with information on telehandler forklifts for sale.

The Crane Network platform offers both new equipment and used equipment for sale and rental. The site allows clients to search through thousands of listings for new and used equipment, which are updated daily from hundreds of dealers. The listings include a wide range of makes and models, including ones such as John Deere, Case, Caterpillar, JCB and New Holland. The Crane Network allows the community to buy high quality used equipment from their network of worldwide locations for used equipment and quality lift equipment. Over 30,000 companies and individuals rely on the company?s online services to effectively manage their fleet for the sale and rental of cranes and equipment.

The website also links users to its sister sites: Rent Cranes Now, Free Crane Specs and Crane Network News. Rent Cranes Now draws attention to crane rentals specifically. Free Crane Specs contains crane specifications and load charts for over 7,000 different makes and models of cranes. Crane Network News lists industry news that businesses in the heavy equipment industry might find useful to keep abreast of. Crane Network LLC and its sister sites all provide the community with listings of cranes for sale and rental.

Crane Network also hosts a business directory that lists companies that make cranes, parts and equipment available for sale or for rent. The directory lists a contact for each company along with a count of the inventory it holds in each category. The directory also lists a member-since date that allows customers to sort through companies based on how long they have been listing their business on the website. At present, the directory lists over 18,700 different companies. The website offers different packages for listing cranes and parts. Various discounts are also available if the business chooses an annual or semi-annual package. Crane Network further offers a range of value-added options such as email blasts, featured listings, social media promotions and optimized search listings. They also offer auction packages, which are a combination of a listing, email blast and a banner at different price points. The website additionally offers the choice to buy banners for increased exposure such as rotating header banners, equipment listing banners, static sidebar banners and SEO banners.

A spokesperson for the company states, ?Our platform is the most preferred method for finding cranes, parts and heavy equipment for rent or for sale online.
