Roper Roofing & Solar would like to bring attention to a blog article on their website that has homeowners in the Denver area appreciating their shingle roofs more than ever before. This blog is titled "3 Unknown Advantages of Your Asphalt Shingle Roof Against Other Roofing Materials". These three lesser-known traits of affordable asphalt shingle make it an even better buy than most homeowners could imagine. Supplying their customers with useful roofing information such as this is just one of the reasons why this company's all-around service is so consistently highly rated.

The company owner Brent Roper says, "There are some really amazing types of roof coverings that are available in the Denver area. This includes virtually leakproof standing seam metal roofs, almost indestructible synthetic roofing tiles, and majestic looking natural slate roof coverings. Despite all of these other roofing options, asphalt shingle is still the most common type of roofing material that we install. All that it has to offer sometimes gets lost in the shuffle when compared to some of these other types of roof coverings. That's why we took the time to post a blog that talks about some of the lesser-known advantages that asphalt shingle has to offer."

The first lesser-known advantage that the abovementioned Roper Roofing & Solar blog mentions is that asphalt shingle has a very predictable lifespan. This helps homeowners plan for future roof replacements because they know that their shingle roof will last them 25-30 years if they properly maintain it.

Also mentioned in the blog as a somewhat unknown advantage of asphalt shingle is roofing companies such as Roper Roofing & Solar are very familiar with using it. That means that roofing crews have the knowledge and experience not only to properly install shingle roofs but also to repair and maintain them.

Also brought up in the blog as a little-known benefit of asphalt shingle is the large number of options that it gives to those that want to install it. This includes the variety of design options it gives homeowners, its versatility, the fact that it can be purchased with different impact ratings, and that it's a product that gives a homeowner a lot of "bang for their buck". This entire Roper Roofing & Solar blog post can be found under the blog heading on the company's website.

In addition to posting informational blogs, Roper pointed out that they offer a large selection of quality roofing services. This includes both residential and commercial roofing services. Some of their better-known commercial roofing services include flat roof 100% Silicone, TPO (Thermoplastic Polyolefin), PVC, and EPDM (Ethylene Propylene Diene Terpolymer) applications. He says that on the residential side, they specialize in new roof installations, whole-roof replacements, and they offer many different types of roof maintenance services. The company owner went on to mention that they only offer quality roofing products that their crews are well-trained and experienced at applying the roofing products that they offer.

Home and business owners that have experienced Roper Roofing's services for themselves often leave glowing testimonials as to the type of work that the company does. Jeffrey Porter stated, "We have used Roper at two different houses. They are the best roofer in Colorado. Period. They are professional, honest, and provide absolutely superior work. And when something isn't right, they fix it...immediately. I've recommended them to several friends, and everyone has had equally wonderful experiences.

Brad DiNardo wrote, "In my opinion, what sets Roper Roofing apart from other companies is their commitment to customer service. It seems like most roofing companies these days sacrifice quality for quantity. Roper Roofing does the opposite, however. They are committed to working with their clients throughout the process, oftentimes going above and beyond just to make sure their customers are satisfied. That type of service is hard to find nowadays!"
