123Employee, a virtual assistant business with headquarters in Las Vegas, NV, has announced the different service packages they offer. Having started from very humble beginnings with just ten employees, the company has grown massively, which has also enabled them to deliver more varied services. As such, listing these services will provide further clarity to their customers.

LJ Gacho from 123Employee says: "When we first started, we were able to offer some virtual assistant services, but not much. With just 10 employees, we were still finding our own feet. Now, less than ten years later, we have grown massively. This has enabled us to offer more services and to offer more specific packages as well."

The company offers a number of different packages that were created through discussions with their clients, who indicated they would like to see certain services banded together. In broad lines, they now offer the Silver Package, the Gold Package and the Platinum package. Each of these comes with a monthly fee and includes a number of hours of virtual assisting per week/month, local US numbers, PBX features, call transfer, incoming and outgoing calls and more.

The company employs staff in the Philippines, in an effort to support the economy of rural communities in that country. They have also been providing educational services, so that they can guarantee all virtual assistants speak perfect English. As such, they are able to continue to deliver all the high quality services that they are known for, while at the same time supporting some of the most impoverished places in the world.

"We want our clients to know that we care," says Daven Michaels, founder of 123Employee. "We care about them and the service they need, but we also care about our employees and the world as a whole. We have achieved great things in the Philippines to date, and we intend to continue with this. Additionally, we are listening to our clients so that we can provide them with the services that they need."

123Employee frequently adds new services in direct response to requests from clients. These now include social media, article marketing, blogging and more.
