Fairfax, Virginia - June 01, 2021 -

Fairfax, Virginia-based Roof.Net is often touted in the reviews it receives on its services as a company that excels at both workmanship and customer service. For proof of that, one has to look no further than a recent 5-star review that was written about this roofing contractor. In this review, the customer pointed out that the entire process from start to finish provided him with an impressive all-around roofing experience. Even a minor mistake during the reroofing work was admitted to by the company and quickly resolved. More reviews such as this one can be seen in several places including the company?s business site located at https://roofnet.business.site.

In the 5-star review mentioned above, David Zhao stated, ?Ken and his team were great! From the very beginning, Ken was responsive and knowledgeable. There's no long-winded sales approach. He listens to your needs and ensures what you get is of the highest standard. We have a townhouse with connected roofs. Ken and his team were able to ensure that they didn't damage the neighbor's old roof while making sure that both the roofs look great from the street. His team was also punctual. They arrived early and went straight to work. Because the only access to the roof was through the back, they had to push all the old roofing material in the back. In the process, a window screen was damaged. Ken was upfront about it and offered to fix it. That's the transparency you want from the people who work on your property. Best of all, his prices were reasonable for the high standard of work that we insisted on. I would without question hire Ken again and will definitely recommend him to our neighbors when they need roof replacements.? Mr. Zhao is not alone in his sentiments about the well-rounded services that he received from this popular roofing company. Dominic Reres wrote, ?Completely seamless experience. From beginning to end Ken was a true professional. We had our entire roof replaced in one day. Ken went through the entire roof replacement process and was very responsive to our questions. On the day of install, his crew was clean and efficient. I would not hesitate to recommend Ken and his crew. Eric Rankin proclaimed, ?Outstanding roof replacement experience! Ken was the only contractor that actually came to our house to personally evaluate the work requirements and make recommendations. He was very responsive throughout the process...answering questions within minutes. Price was competitive and work completed as promised professionally. Highly recommend! Amazingly, Roof.Net manages to maintain a perfect 5 out of 5-star review average on the company?s GMB Listing.

The glowing reviews about Roof.Net?s work can be found in other places too. Take this webpage found at https://birdeye.com/roofnet-151094828778589 for instance. Here satisfied Roof.Net customer C Q. writes, ?Ken is very professional, honest, and trustworthy. His work speaks volumes and is of high quality. I had my roof changed, on both the main house and the detached garage. Outstanding work! You can clearly see the craftsmanship and detail of his work when compared to other roofs in our neighborhood that were changed due to recent wind and hail damage. It was a storm that affected the entire community here in Brambleton. I would recommend Ken to all of my coworkers and anyone looking for the very best in roofing services. Thank you, Ken!? These types of reviews would also explain why Roof.Net is a BBB best A+ rated, selected as a 2020 Talk Award Winner, and has been honored with the Best of the Best National Award for 5 straight years.

Currently, the crew at Roof.Net is largely focused on whole roof replacements. In fact, this major roofing task is featured in most of the 5-star reviews that the company has received over time. This type of job begins with a thorough roof inspection and commences once the customer has agreed to the detailed estimate that the owner of the company writes up for them. During this process, not only is a customer?s roof covering material replaced but so too will the insulating underlayment that the roof covering material is placed over. Those that would like more information on roof replacement and other services that Roof.Net offers can call them, send them an email, or refer to the company website.
