Sacramento is home to many unwanted pests and insects, including wasps, roaches, spiders, bed bugs, rodents and more. There are times when a property owner is going to need a professional to handle the issue. Best Pest Control Detectives, serving Sacramento County, is offering insect control solutions to homes and businesses throughout the area.

"There are many bugs that fall in to the insect category that we can help with," the owner said. "We have a team of educated, skilled and efficient individuals that enjoy what they do. If you're dealing with ants, spiders, roaches, wasps, ticks, or another annoying insect, we can definitely help."

Ants are a very common pest that Best Pest Control Detectives can treat. These little insects can take over a home, inside and out, and very quickly. They are definitely one of the harder pests to treat without the help of an ant control expert.

"When we provide services we enjoy offering guidance to property owners that will help them keep a pest-free property," the owner added. "It's important to seal gaps and crevices around the exterior of your home. This will keep the ants out, but also many other common insects that are found in homes."

Wasps are not a fun pest and the business owner said they have received many calls regarding this particular insect over the past month. For those allergic to stinging insects, wasps, yellow jackets, bees and other stinging pests should always contact a professional for help with removal.

"Our wasp and stinging insect control services include eliminating the nests and homes of the pests. This ensures they don't return and this isn't something we advise an individual doing on their own. Our team can safely remove and eliminate the wasps or other stinging pests for you," the owner said.

Best Pest Control Detectives also provides spider control. Spiders are an insect that the majority of people never want to encounter. They are creepy, crawly insects that can be intimidating, especially when larger in size. An upside to spiders found in a property is that they're eating all the other small insects that aren't easily seen. So the spiders keep the insect population down, but it's not often reason enough to keep them around.

Our spider control solutions can put your mind at ease and help you prevent them from returning. We examine your property, killing any spiders we see along the way, and then we treat all the other smaller bugs that are giving the spiders a reason to come inside. Eliminating their food source is a really helpful way of preventing them in the future," the owner said.

Roaches are common in many areas, including Sacramento, and they're probably one of the most grotesque pest issues to have. They can carry bacteria, transmitting diseases to exposed humans and enhancing asthma and allergy symptoms. The company advises residents to contact an expert right away to eliminate cockroaches. They breed quickly and can become a health risk very quickly if left untreated for any period of time.
