Lincoln, Nebraska based Flat Water Products has recently released a set of colored pencils, which are geared towards providing coloring therapy for adults, and these pencils have already received rave reviews since their launch. Company spokesperson Steve Wise commented on the launch, as well as the recent customer reviews. He said, "We couldn't be more thrilled at the reception that our Starving Artist Colored Pencils have gotten on Amazon, and the tremendous response to both the pencil set and our customer service."

Since their release, the pencils have received multiple five star ratings, and the company's seller rating is currently at 100 percent. "We do try to treat our customers as we would want to be treated," explains Steve Wise. "We take customer service very seriously, and want to ensure that everyone who orders from us is completely satisfied."

Wise also pointed out that an article on coloring therapy had coaxed the company into releasing their product when they did. The article had explained that while coloring is typically considered a child's pastime, studies have shown that adults can use the activity to de-stress their lives. It explains that the process of coloring provides a period of quietness and stimulates areas of the brain that are related to motor skills, creativity, and the senses. It goes on to state that publishers have, over the past few years, been releasing coloring books that are specifically designed for adults, due to the overwhelming evidence that it can help to alleviate stress and counteract mood related disorders.

"We knew that coloring was great, but just never realized how therapeutic it could be, which may be one reason that our pencil set has been so well received," points out Steve Wise.

The Starving Artist Coloring Pencils is a complete set (including eraser, sharpener, and blending brush), and includes a wide selection of colors, 48 different colors to be exact. Customer reviews continue to be posted, with most indicating that they are very satisfied with their purchase, and the customer service that they have received from the company.
