May 28, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Destin, Fla. ? As the COVID-19 vaccines become more widespread, those in the beleaguered travel industry are finally starting to see the light at the end of the tunnel as more and more countries reopen their borders to tourists. Royal Caribbean International recently announced they would be returning to cruising on June 12. As cruise travel planners in Destin, the team at Have Travel Memories Vacations have been closely monitoring the international travel regulations since the rise of the pandemic that has forestalled international travel for over a year.

Adults who have been fully vaccinated against COVID-19 and those under age 18 with negative test results will be permitted aboard the ship upon providing proof of their vaccine. The ship?s crew will all be fully vaccinated, the company said. Royal Caribbean released a statement that additional details on the company?s health and safety measures will be announced at a later date. The health and safety measures will utilize expert guidance from the Healthy Sail Panel, Royal Caribbean Group?s head of public health and chief medical officer, and local government and health authorities.

In addition, hopeful travelers will be required to meet the travel requirements of The Bahamas. These requirements may include receiving a negative COVID test prior to their arrival, and additional testing upon arrival into the country, and filling out appropriate entry forms. The most up-to-date policies can be found at The Bahamas website, www.Bahamas.com.

The upcoming Bahamas cruises opened for sale on March 24 and are scheduled to make visits to Royal Caribbean's private island, Perfect Day at CocoCay, as well as Grand Bahama Island and Cozumel, Mexico.
