Bella Joi announced earlier that their lotion for stretch marks is now considered a popular gift for moms. This is based on the number of feedbacks they get everyday from users who are sharing their experience of the product. The company has also been getting bulk orders from those who give the lotion as a gift to their family and friends.

"First of all, we want to thank everyone for the unending support that you have given us. We are thrilled that you consider our product as a good gift for women, especially the moms who have stretch marks problem," says Bella Joi spokesperson, Holly Richards. "With so many brands found in the market today, it is really a dream come true for our product to be considered a worthy gift for the people you care about. Rest assured that we will continue to bring to you wonderful products just like our very popular, non-greasy cream for stretch marks."

This product has received an overwhelming number of good reviews at Amazon. In a review given by Angie H, she wrote, --"I ordered this stretch mark cream for my daughter who just had a baby. She is very pleased with this cream. It is non greasy and has a very pleasant scent. Her stretch marks were about 8 months old and we knew they weren't going to completely go away but this cream really helped lighten them. My daughter even used the cream on some scars that she had. They are lighter and less noticeable as well. We are very pleased with this cream and she has already asked if I will order more for her before this one is empty. I would definitely recommend this cream for anyone who is pregnant or has any stretch marks.?

Created by a naturopathic doctor, this lotion is now produced at a US laboratory under the strictest manufacturing guidelines to ensure quality. Each bottle contains a generous amount of antioxidants in the form of Aloe. To combat the feeling of greasiness, Capric Triglyceride was also added to the mix. It also has nourishing butters that are known to help nourish and moisturize the skin. These butters are Mango, Cocoa and Shea. In addition to these, the concoction also has Rose Hip Seed Oil, Jojoba Oil and Olive Oil. It is safe to use during pregnancy and is easily absorbed by the skin.

Good feedbacks from customers surely helped in the growing popularity of Bella Joi's lotion. It has also helped that it is available online at amazon, the site known for easy and risk-free shopping.
