June 22, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Roseville, CA-based Westworld Painting has just announced that they are now offering quality exterior painting services. Due to popular demand, this contractor that has long been known for its superior interior painting services has decided to place even more emphasis on its exterior painting work. It's a company that also recognizes there is no faster way to give a home an often-needed exterior makeover than by putting a fresh layer of decorative and protective paint on it. As with all of their commercial and residential painting services, they have the knowledgeable personnel and sophisticated equipment in place to get this type of painting work to turn out looking great.

The company owner, Chad Rivett, says, "We started our painting business centered mostly around our interior painting services but at the same time we never turned down any exterior painting work either. When word started to get around how meticulous we are when prepping for an exterior painting job and how good these jobs turned out, we started getting more and more requests for this service. It now has become almost as popular as our interior painting work. Our crews love doing it because they are outside in the fresh air while working and they also get much satisfaction from seeing how good the exterior of a home looks because of the effort that they put into every exterior painting task that we do."

Rivett continued by saying that almost every home or business owner that has siding on a building should consider putting a fresh coat of paint on it every 5 years or so. Each time this is done it will make a home or business stand out from those around it. The company owner also mentioned that besides curb appeal, there are many other benefits that home and business owners get by painting the exteriors of their buildings. One of the most important of which is protecting siding from the elements and in the case of wood siding, it makes it harder for insects to bore into the wood and advance the rotting process. The fresh coat of paint will also act as a moisture barrier. In addition to these, exterior painting adds value to a property and for those that are selling their house, a freshly painted home will appeal more to prospective buyers.

Rivett stated that they place special emphasis on the importance of the prep work before painting and other reasons home and business owners choose to use them for their exterior painting work include the way that he stays in constant communication with the customer throughout the process. They are also highly qualified to do color consultations and give their customers a worry-free experience because they have full liability and worker's comp coverage. He mentioned that they always follow up their work with a yearly courtesy call, have an extended 5-year warranty available, and offer several financing options including some with 0% interest.

There is no better testament as to what type of exterior painting work a company does than to have a finished job leads to even more exterior painting contracts. Bob Bowman wrote in a 5-star review, "What a terrific professional experience from beginning to end! We can't recommend Westworld Painting enough. Chad met with us several times to make sure we were absolutely sure about our choices and gave us a very competitive bid. Our house needed some extra prep work before painting which involved some wood replacement and stucco cracks; all were repaired perfectly. We are thrilled with the results and several other friends and neighbors have been so impressed with how our house looks and are now going with Westworld Painting's services too!" This is just one of 35 reviews that were left on Westworld Paintings Google Maps Business Listing where they average a commendable 4.9 out of 5-star rating.
