Brooklyn - Family law is typically centered around the occasions that challenge marriage partners and their families. Divorce, child custody, asset division, spousal support, visitation, and child support; can be extremely charged issues and can affect everybody involved, both emotionally and financially. When emotions are involved, it is frequently tough for couples to think plainly about the repercussions of their immediate actions and decisions during a divorce.

Juan Luciano, Esq., a skilled divorce attorney in Brooklyn, understands his function as the financial, emotional, and legal representative for his clients. There is often a fine line in between being a support system for his clients, keeping continuous communication between couples as non-confrontational as possible, and yet understanding when to use the aggressive measures required to help make sure that his client's rights and best outcomes are being completely represented.

"Most of the time, I'm dealing with clients who are going through a very painful and vulnerable time. , they are required to make sensitive decisions that will impact them and their kids for several years to come," discussed the divorce attorney. "Although I recognize that I can't take away the pain they may be feeling, I can help them make these essential decisions. Important decisions should be made while keeping the client's psychological comfort and dignity as an important element in all our interactions. While we try to keep open lines of communication and cooperation with the other partner, there are some circumstances when this is simply not possible or productive, and we need to count on more aggressive techniques. I try to take my cue from the client whenever I can, but, I also have to be honest with the client. It is a fine line that we need to walk as lawyers."

Mr. Luciano is a firm believer in the power of empathy and respect and credits his success to his willingness to treat his family law clients with a level of sensitivity. While cooperative tactics are his very first go-to approach, he also knows there are times when cooperation is no longer worthwhile. Because of this, Mr. Luciano continues to garner positive testimonials from his clients:

Stroman Fortune from Brooklyn says: "Although the dissolution of my marriage was complex and lengthy, I did not doubt that hiring Juan was the best choice. From the beginning he was compassionate, conscientious, and demonstrated a comprehensive knowledge and understanding of New York divorce law. Immediately I knew I made a terrific choice. From child custody to support, child visitation, alimony, and much more, he was helpful every step of the way. Every phone call was returned without delay, every email message returned straightaway, every communication was spot on. No one wants to get divorced, but if you must, Juan Luciano is the best lawyer you can hire. His service is outstanding."

Because divorce often sets the stage for the rest of a person's life, Juan Luciano works hard to bring legal finesse and his years of experience to secure the most favorable result for each client he represents. Although a person might not feel any sense of optimism during the proceedings, Mr. Luciano comprehends that life does go on after a divorce, and the choices made in the middle of the turmoil will color the future for the law practice's clients. Mr. Luciano tries to supply a level of clear-mindedness during those moments when his family law clients might not have the ability to think clearly.

With an experienced divorce lawyer navigating the way, a challenging situation can often be adeptly negotiated, thus allowing each partner to reach common ground. Mr. Luciano thinks that getting the right representation can make a big difference in the cooperation and tone between former partners throughout the divorce process.

Mr. Luciano serves individuals in Manhattan, Bronx, Westchester, the Upper East Side, and throughout New York City. You can find out more about him and his practice at <https://divorcelawfirmnyc.com/>.
