June 28, 2021 -
The Crane Network LLC., an online resource connecting buyers and sellers of cranes, heavy equipment, parts, and attachments, is offering service truck cranes and bucket cranes for sale and rent.

A bucket, or a scoop, is a crane attachment that is designed to pick up or contain things. There are different types of bucket attachments such as drag buckets, clamshell buckets, and concrete buckets. They can be used for a variety of purposes in industries such as demolition, construction, waste disposal, mining, excavating, and more.

The Crane Network provides the most comprehensive collection of bucket cranes and attachments online. The prices range anywhere from $750 to $7495. The current catalog of items for sale and rent includes attachments from manufacturers such as ESCO, HMT, Hendrix, JCrane, National, Sorel, and more.

Service truck cranes are small but versatile cranes that are attached to a mechanic's truck. They are easily recognizable due to their distinct make and attachments. Service truck cranes have been engineered to help repair all types of equipment. They are modular and can be repurposed to be helpful in different industries based on the requirement. The most powerful cranes can extend up to 30 feet.

Service truck cranes are usually associated with heavy-equipment industries, such as mining, field service/installation, gas distribution service/installation, highway sign/roadside park maintenance, monument/burial vault companies, pipeline companies, wastewater treatment, workboats and barges, railroad signal departments/track maintenance, cable tv service/installation, and drilling contractors, just to name a few.

The Crane Network website currently lists over 40 service truck cranes for sale from manufacturers such as Auto Crane, Freightliner, IMT, International, Mack, Palfinger, Stellar, and Sterling, and more.

The Crane Network offers a website that places all the information that a buyer might need front and center and then makes it easy to search and navigate. The listings can be sorted by year manufactured, name of the manufacturer, item name, model name, and price. Listings may be accompanied by pictures to give the buyer a clear idea of what they are purchasing. Each listing comes with detailed descriptions of the item along with critical information such as year of manufacture, hours used, condition of the item, serial number, and location. The listings also contain the seller?s contact information for buyers to directly contact them. Listings can also be set as private and more information can be made available to potential buyers on inquiry. The listing page also gives the buyer a calculator that lets them estimate the monthly payments on the item based on the purchase price, down payment, interest rate, and years if they choose to go the financing route.

The Crane Network houses cranes, construction equipment, and parts & attachments from popular companies such as Tadano, Grove, National, Link-Belt, Manitowoc, Kobelco, Liebherr, Cormach, Manitex, and Terex. The company carries cranes for rent in all kinds of categories such as aerial man lifts, all-terrain cranes, boom truck cranes, bridge inspection lift, bucket truck cranes, carry deck industrial cranes, construction elevator hoists, crawler lattice boom cranes, crawler telescopic boom cranes, derrick, down cab rough terrain cranes, drywall pallet fork material cranes, gantry cranes, hi reach, hoists/winches, hook lifts, knuckle boom articulating cranes, material handler cranes, mini cranes, overhead cranes, pile driving, rough terrain cranes, service truck crane, ship loader, sign ladder, telehandler forklifts, tower cranes, trailer-mounted cranes, truck-mounted lattice boom cranes, truck-mounted telescopic boom cranes and other types of cranes and equipment.
