

Rainbow Bridge Announces Jazz Artist Cindy Bradley Will Be First To Perform In Amphitheater

September 30, 2015

September 30, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Rainbow Bridge, a dog sanctuary in Carlsbad, CA, has announced that noted jazz performer Cindy Bradley will be providing the first performance in their planned amphitheater as soon as it is completed. Further information is available on the planned amphitheater and the upcoming performance by Bradley can be found at www.MyRainbowBridge.co.

"We have great plans for our dog sanctuary and we are so happy that Cindy Bradley has agreed to be our first performer," says James DePelma from Rainbow Bridge. "It is appropriate because Cindy is a dog lover and she believes in our vision and mission. We hope that many others like her will perform at our center."

On the grounds of Rainbow Bridge will be everything that a dog could ever need. The huge plot of land is covered in green grass and shade. Work is currently taking place to landscape the gardens so that they include trees, flowers and lakes. All of these will allow dogs to roam to their heart's desire.

A number of things are also taking place to encourage people to make donations to the dog sanctuary. The one the team at Rainbow Bridge is most proud of is the donor wall. On it, the name of every person who has contributed to the cause will be listed. It will provide a visual reminder of the people who participated in achieving the goal of taking homeless, unwanted dogs off the streets and giving them a permanent, loving home.

"Our goals are huge, but we believe them to be achievable," adds James DePelma. "We want to make the world a better place for dogs, but we also want to improve the San Diego County economy by creating jobs. Cindy Bradley's performance will also help with this, because her performance will help to make sure Rainbow Bridge can run efficiently."

Rainbow Bridge understands that their center will require substantial funds to operate. However, they believe it to be a worthy cause, and they are looking for people who believe in it to make donations through the Rainbow Bridge website. Any donor who does so at present will receive free admission to the Cindy Bradley concert.
