Cornelia, Georgia based Destination Paradise is reaching out to the community to show a new drone-filmed video where they highlight some of Aruba's most popular tourist spots. The company's Youtube channel boasts many videos from beautiful locations all over the world.

"Aruba is a happy island blessed with natural beauty, blissful weather and the warmest people that you will ever meet," states Greg Webster, a representative of Destination Paradise. "When it comes to places to visit in the Caribbean, you will find no other location as rich in culture and beautiful scenery. You won't be short of things to do. Whether you choose to spend your days on the beautiful beaches or step into the city and visit some of the historical landmarks, you will always find some interesting, fun activity to do in Aruba."

Aruba is one of the most popular tourist destinations in the Caribbean. It is very welcoming towards visitors, hosting four languages, and it has more sunny days than any other Caribbean island. While Aruba may be best known for its beautiful beaches and perfect weather, those who venture off the sand are sure to be amazed by an incredible set of new and exciting things to do.

Webster states, "Whether you seek peace and tranquility, excitement and adventure, immersive cultural experiences or an alluring romantic getaway, the island has got you covered. With so many fun things to do in Aruba, you're sure to find an activity, sight, attraction or event that's right up your alley!"

All of these aspects are highlighted on Destination Paradise's Aruba 4K video, where they show the most popular destinations, resorts and even some of the hidden gems of the Caribbean Island. Their 30 minute long video, posted on their YouTube channel, shows drone footage of the beautiful island accompanied by ambient music to convey a relaxing, welcoming atmosphere.

One of the first locations shown in the video is Baby Beach. This is a shallow, sheltered artificial lagoon and beach located in Seroe, Colorado, on the southeast end of the island of Aruba. The lagoon takes its name after the calm, tranquil waters that make it safe for even small children to go out for a swim. With a lack of waves and waist-high, shallow waters, this is the most popular location in the area for those visiting the Aruba beaches with small children.

These calm waters make it so that snorkeling at the beach is safe for both children and anyone new to snorkeling. Marine life in the lagoon includes barracuda, squid, parrotfish, blowfish, angelfish, eels and many other types of small fish. The range of most of these animals is limited to the inlet, where the water level deepens significantly.

Destination Paradise also shows footage of Aruba's largest city and capital, Oranjestad. The capital city has significant Dutch influence, and is rich in Dutch Colonial culture and architecture, as Aruba is a constituent country of the Kingdom of the Netherlands. The city maintains a great deal of its architecture from its earlier days due to increased government interest in maintaining the island's cultural heritage. A number of old buildings and houses in the center of town have been transformed into colorfully restored landmarks, such as the lime-colored Civil Registry on Wilhelminastraat.

The city also hosts several modern recreations, including the outdoor shopping mall at Royal Plaza (which is shown on the Destination Paradise video), and a few scattered buildings along Main Street and on the Main Square. Fort Zoutman is also one of the town's attractions, along with the Willem III Tower, located near the fort. There are eight museums scattered throughout the island, showing rich pieces of the island's history and development.

Other beaches such as Palm Beach, and some resorts are also shown on the video, giving viewers a taste of the experience that staying on the island can give.

Those interested in planning an event to Aruba or any other location across the globe may reach out to Destination Paradise and request their assistance. Their YouTube channel features videos on many other popular locations, as well as scenic relaxation videos that show the beauty of these destinations.
