Pembroke Pines, Florida - July 12, 2021 -
EPS Landscaping is providing lawn care, landscape design, tree trimming, tree installation, tree removal, irrigation, pest/weed control, and other tree services in Pembroke Pines and other areas in the Broward County area of South Florida.

South Florida is blessed to have a tropical climate that allows for many different types of vegetation to grow and thrive. Homeowners can take advantage of the landscape?s unique flora to create enrapturing views that can appeal to any possible style and taste. Though the rewards are well worth it, one can be hesitant to put in the time and effort it takes to achieve that flawless vision for the landscape that they might have cradled for a long time. The solution to this problem is entrusting the heavy lifting to a professional tree services company such as EPS Landscaping that provides all kinds of services from tree installation, tree relocation, tree pruning, tree removal, stump grinding, and emergency tree removal.

Installing a tree is not an easy one-step job. It is an involved process that requires not just skill and knowledge but also plenty of experience. There has to be enough space around the tree to account for its future growth. The chosen spot should not be close to the home or under power lines. The soil has to be inspected for its quality and if required a solution needs to be set up to provide irrigation to it. Fixing the problem of a lack of water, if taken too far, can lead to another problem. The roots can drown if there isn?t sufficient drainage. The tree might also need some support during its first year. All of the aforementioned problems can be spotted by an expert that has dealt with similar situations in the past and that is exactly why a professional tree service such as EPS Landscaping & Tree Service LLC is recommended to homeowners who want to decorate their property with vegetation.

Relocating a tree is another difficult job that should be entrusted over to those who are dedicated to solving such problems. While relocating a tree, its roots stand a great risk of being damaged. It requires specialized tools and, in the case of large trees, heavy machinery to do the job quickly and efficiently. A tree services company will also educate the homeowner on the best time of year for tree relocation as it varies according to the type of tree.

Once a tree has been planted or moved, the residential or commercial property owner may choose to have the trees trimmed and pruned to match the aesthetic they are going for or for other safety reasons. Pruning trees to give the trees a distinct shape is a common practice. Trees can even be pruned to allow for recessed areas that can be perfect to install benches or gardens. Trees may also need to be pruned to get rid of dead branches that can be a safety hazard to those living on the property. Palm trees are an especially important candidate for the service because dead fronds can be a fire hazard.

An arborist can also draw on their expertise to provide the final say on whether a tree is safe enough to be kept on the property. If a tree gets infected and the damage spreads beyond a few limbs, it might be important to get rid of the tree in a safe manner before falling limbs injure the homeowners. Some homeowners might also choose to have trees removed that are blocking their view or providing too much shade or making the property feel unkempt and cluttered. Felling trees is a risky procedure that should only be attempted by experts with the right knowledge and equipment.
