Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Columbus has announced that they are offering their services to people who require a personal injury lawyer in Columbus, GA and neighboring areas. The firm promises clients that they will not let them accept a low settlement offer from the insurance firm. They have a group of experience personal injury attorneys and external experts who carefully examine a client?s case and make an assessment of what it is worth. They will then inform the insurance company what the client will be willing to accept as settlement for the claims. They want clients to remember that insurance adjusters have the goal of minimizing the amount of money to be paid by the insurance firm. They?re not really concerned about the well-being of the personal injury victim, which means that their settlement offer will typically be much less than the actual value of the claim.

Tim Derrickson, a spokesperson for Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Columbus, says, ?If you have been hurt due to someone else?s negligence, it is normal to feel overwhelmed by your situation. Rising medical costs, missed time from work, and pain from your injuries are all factors that cause stress and anxiety following the incident. You may also be receiving calls from an insurance adjuster wanting to settle your case quickly. You should never accept the insurance company?s offer and instead, should consult with a Columbus personal injury attorney right away.?

They promise clients that they will not be intimidated by the insurance companies, and they will never back down even if their opponent has significant power, to ensure that those who have been injured and their legal rights have been violated will get the justice they deserve.

Their Georgia personal injury attorneys have been serving Columbus, Georgia and surrounding counties for many years, having a combined experience of 350 years. Personal injury victims can request for a free consultation to find out if they have a case.

They can handle various kinds of personal injury cases. These include: automobile accidents, bicycle accidents, slip and fall accidents, workplace accidents, defective products, medical malpractice, dog bites, nursing home abuse, and construction accidents.

Car accidents are common causes of personal injury. Those who have been injured in a car accident, 18-wheeler or tractor trailer crash, commercial vehicle crash, pedestrian accident, bus accident, or motorcycle or moped crash are advised to consult with one of the attorneys at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Columbus. They will help the client in seeking compensation from all available insurance policies. In the event that the at-fault driver does not have sufficient insurance to compensate the client, their attorneys will make claims against the client?s uninsured or underinsured motorist policies to make sure that the full value is received.

Bicycle accidents are also quite common in Georgia because of its favorable weather and attractive landscape that entice people to go bicycling. A key reason for bicycle accidents in Georgia is drivers failing to yield to the right of way. Victims of such accidents can pursue compensation for lost wages and medical bills, including the pain and suffering caused by the carelessness of the at-fault person.

Meanwhile, slip and fall accidents occur because of uneven floors and wet and slippery floors in a building or establishment. Those who have been injured in such accidents have to document the location of the incident and take photos that show the condition of the floor that caused the accident. It is also necessary to get medical treatment as soon as possible to ensure there is proper documentation of the injury. The slip and fall attorneys at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Columbus will then take care of legally pursuing the claim.

People may also fall victim to workplace accidents. The workers? compensation laws of Georgia offer coverage in case an employee is injured while engaged in employment. In most cases, the law will permit the worker to recover medical bills and lost wages resulting from the need to recover after the injury.
