Duluth, Georgia - July 09, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Atlanta Institute of Music and Media (AIMM) is pleased to announce that they are offering an Online Music and Technology Certificate that serves the state of New York. This is a music program that is 100 percent online and it is unique because it combines organic instrumentation (bass or guitar) with music production techniques. Being an AVID Pro Tools Training Partner, AIMM provides the best insider tips and techniques when it comes to recording, mixing, and mastering. This online music program offers the convenience of flexibility and the certificate can be completed within 12 months at full-time enrollment, allowing New York musicians to be soon ready to get back to gigging and performances.

This certificate allows musicians to focus on either guitar or bass. This nationally accredited online certificate is made up of 36 credits that are completely transferable to the Associate of Applied Science in Music and Technology Degree offered by AIMM. It is offered completely online and consists of online music courses that allow the student to obtain the requisite education to enhance their musical and recording and engineering abilities.

The program has been developed for the intermediate instrumentalist who also wants to learn about the field of recording and engineering, to allow them to find more opportunities in today's ever-changing music industry. These online music classes are expected to fully prepare the students for the workload, style, and expectations of the music industry. This online certificate is a key first step for musicians who want to master their instrument and know important music production techniques.

Nite Driscoll, President of Atlanta Institute of Music and Media, says, "For those who are looking for the best New York online music school, the Atlanta Institute of Music and Media is excited to offer various kinds of online certificates for New York musicians. These online music programs are specifically designed to provide a hands-on approach to music and technology education - all from the comfort of your home."

AIMM has the mission of providing students with an opportunity to obtain the tools for rapid progress, develop new professional opportunities, and expand their repertoire. They can take on various roles, such as musician, live sound engineer, or producer. The students will have the capability to take on better-paying and more demanding jobs in a competitive music recording market.

AIMM alumni can combine what they learned with their personal styles to enhance their self-confidence, bring out their musical talents, have a deep industry understanding, and boost their technical skills and creative potential. AIMM offers various several benefits and resources that can help the students advance their careers. This is due to the wide ranging musical experience provided and job placement for the students after graduation.

Meanwhile, their online music programs offer various advantages. These include: convenience, more freedom, lower cost because there would be no need to travel and spend for room and board, and enhanced schedule flexibility.

AIMM can also offer financial aid. They currently administer some Title IV federal aid programs. It should be noted that once students have been admitted to AIMM, and have submitted an application for federal financial aid, their financial aid file will be processed. Such federal aid applications need to have the necessary supporting financial documents and must be submitted at least 30 days before the first day of class.

AIMM is different from other music schools for a number of reasons. First of all, they offer a singular program that combines music production methods with organic instrumentation. They combine music theory, instruments and lessons, production, and performance opportunities in just one singular program. students will be able to master an instrument of choice, whether guitar or bass, and also learn the best insider techniques for mixing, mastering and tracking as if they're already professionals.

With the Online Music and Technology Certificate, graduates can qualify for various career opportunities, such as: director of audio events, director of visual events, music producer, sound engineer, audio and lighting technician, audio engineer, music center owner and entrepreneur, audio visual specialist, professional touring singer, music performers, professional back-up vocalist, and many more.

Those who would like to learn more about the online music program can visit AIMM's website or contact them through the telephone or via email.
