Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Columbus, a firm based in Columbus, GA, is happy to announce that they have several practice areas. These include car accidents, wrongful death, medical malpractice, workers compensation and workplace injuries, insurance bad faith, overtime and unpaid wages, nursing home abuse, and dangerous products and premises. The firm has eight offices in Georgia and they can go to the client within 24 to 48 hours. Ken Nugent points out that they have one of the biggest law firms in the Southeast that are focused on offering help to personal injury victims and their families.

Tim Derrickson, a spokesperson for Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Columbus, says, ?Our law firm has been trusted by thousands of clients who got involved in car crashes, motorcycle wrecks, and 18 wheeler accidents all across the state of Georgia. We are prepared to go the distance to ensure that injury claims are handled fast and professionally so that clients can focus on recovery. If you?ve been injured in an accident or any incident caused by another party?s negligence, you may be entitled to monetary compensations. You have the right to claim a fair settlement for the losses suffered as a result of the incident.?

As expected, their key practice area has to do with car accidents. Such accidents are caused by someone who was not careful or was negligent and this may have resulted into a serious injury. For such cases, their personal injury attorneys are ready to protect the legal interests of the victims and fight for the right to seeking a fair and full compensation.

A wrongful death happens a family member passed a way due to serious injuries incurred from an accident due to the wrongdoing or negligence of another party. Family members may seek compensation from the party who was responsible for the accident.

Medical malpractice cases, meanwhile, are more complex than the usual personal injury cases. This situation requires the services of an experienced medical malpractice lawyer, who knows how to gather evidence to prove damages caused by medical malpractice and put the right value on them. These attorneys have excellent contacts with skilled negotiators and experts, and are aggressive in going against the insurance companies. They are skilled in strategizing and determining the strongest evidence for their clients.

The firm can also help employees in their workers? compensation insurance claims. Although the state of Georgia mandates companies to provide this kind of insurance for their employees, it is the insurance firms who process claims. Injured workers often find themselves talking to an insurance claims adjusters who usually: undervalue lost wages; deny legitimate claims; discourage them from asking for a second medical opinion; pressure the injured workers to return to their work too soon; refuse significant claims for permanent injuries, emotional damages, and scarring; and refuse to accept responsibility for conditions that cause multiple injuries.

The team of lawyers at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Columbus will work closely with clients to help them get fair compensation for their lost wages, medical bills, and pain and suffering due to: truck accidents; stairs, scaffolding, and ladder falls; repetitive use injuries caused by computers, factory machines, etc.; construction site accidents; slip and fall injuries; auto accidents; inadequate worker training; and improperly maintained property resulting into dangerous conditions.

They can also help with insurance bad faith cases. Insurance firms often avoid paying a claim based on the terms of a policy. Bad faith claims cases can be filed against the insurance company if they acted recklessly or illegally by disregarding the policy owner?s rights.

And sometimes a company will neglect to pay overtime and wages. The lawyers can help the workers recover all of the unpaid wages and overtime that they are entitled to. Usually, these cases result from the company not recognizing certain work rendered by employees as overtime or as something that needs to be compensated.
