Dillon's Heating & Cooling Introduces the HVAC Economizer: A Unique Form of Energy Bill Reduction

July 26, 2021

Lenexa, Kansas - July 26, 2021 -
Dillon's Heating & Cooling is a Lenexa, KS-based company that is known for coming up with different ways to help its residential and commercial HVAC customers save money. A great example of that is this company has just introduced its commercial customers to a product that?s known as the HVAC Economizer. It?s an AC system energy-saving device that works in a unique way to enable a company to achieve a substantial heating bill reduction. The company felt this was an important enough product that they recently posted a blog article that described it in more detail. That blog post can be seen here at https://www.dillonsheatingandcooling.com/post/how-an-hvac-economizer-can-cut-down-your-energy-bill.

This newly posted company blog started by describing what an HVAC Economizer is. It?s a device that can be added to an existing commercial HVAC rooftop system. It will help offset the copious amounts of energy that the air conditioning units on HVAC systems are known to consume. The key components inside it are the sensors that ac6tivate it when the conditions are right. The blog article states that these special sensors monitor the outside air to determine whether it is sufficiently cool enough to help lower the temperature in the building. It also does just the opposite when outside air temperatures are not helpful with cooling and minimizes air ventilation when this is the case. In essence, these devices are designed to provide ?free cooling? when the outside conditions are favorable and this can result in substantial energy savings for a business. The new post went on to say that many businesses in the Kansas City area are already taking advantage of the decreased running time of their cooling systems to save on their energy bills.

The company owner, Jeff Dillon, also talked about the many other products and services that his top-rate Kansas City area HVAC company offers. This includes installing some of the most efficient residential heating and cooling systems that can be found in the home marketplace. He stated that they also provide home furnace and AC repairs, maintenance tune-ups, and can even enter into money-saving maintenance agreements with their customers. Their services also include commercial heating and air conditioning services. Something which the company owner says there is no commercial HVAC project that is too big, too small, or too difficult for them to take on. They are also always standing by and ready to handle any emergency HVAC repairs that their customers need at any hour of the day or night.

Dillon's Heating & Cooling also has an impressive track record when it comes to satisfying both its residential and commercial HVAC customers. Caitie Marquardt wrote, ?Jeff, the owner, was the one who came to quote us for replacement options. He took the time to sit down and explain the pros and cons of each and was able to provide technical information for my engineer husband who had done a lot of research already. We ultimately decided to upgrade to a high-efficiency system. Pricing was competitive, and scheduling was quick. Both Jeff and Rigo performed the install and they were both extremely professional. Highly recommend!? Sonia Hodgin stated, ?Jeff and his crew, are incredible! I have tons of rental income properties and it isn?t easy. But with HVAC, cooling, or heating, they have me covered. My tenants love them! This company makes me a better landlord and my tenants? happy tenants which makes this a great win-win. Late at night, early mornings, no excuses Jeff and the team are there on time, and job well done!? These reviews were taken from Dillon's Heating & Cooling?s Google Maps Business Listing where they have a perfect 5-star average on over 150 reviews.
