Surrey, BC - Nationwide Canadian-based Business Solutions & Credit Counselling Services provides a clear path to financial freedom with simple solutions.

As Canadians continue to grapple with economic and social uncertainty and upheaval related to fallout from the COVID-19 pandemic, many are struggling with ballooning debts as access to employment and other opportunities remain limited. Business Solutions & Credit Counselling Services is one of Surrey BC's most trusted debt counsellors and has helped tens of thousands of Canadians with debt management and credit counselling.

BSCC is busier than ever and is providing Canadians with extremely dependable, solvent strategies to getting back on track financially, even in a limited Canadian economy that has seen record levels of debt stack up among the citizenry and government. Rebuilding credit, avoiding bankruptcy, rebuilding credit scores, and debt settlement strategies are just a few of the services BSCC offers to Canadians who are struggling.

BSCC debt counsellor Avineet Kalsey says that with a bit of guidance, most of their clients will experience a reduction of at least 50% and up to 90% of their total debt by working with his firm.

"People from all walks of life accumulate debt, and this is especially the case as we work through the pandemic," Kalsey says. "People view the use of money differently, and not all of them understand the severity of accumulating massive debts that have crippling effects later in life."

BSCC counsellors work tirelessly to ensure every client understands every financial term in their contracts, and then educate and advise on paths to debt reduction and in some cases, a completely debt-free lifestyle.

?Regardless of how bills have piled up or how large the overall debt has become, it is important to start small,? Kalsey says. ?Attacking debt with small actions like reduced spending, thrifting, or finding a secondary income are all wonderful first steps, but we at BSCC will help you take your debt reduction a step further by providing a full suite of counselling and legal services which will eliminate debt much faster. We have offices across Canada nationwide to be able to help as many people as possible, both with business and personal debt matters ? and it all starts with a free call.?
