Newman, Seland & Oppenheimer, LLC, an Orlando, FL based accounting firm, has announced that they are currently expanding the services that they offer to area businesses. The firm, which is considered to be one of the most reputable in the region, provides a host of accounting services and is now serving clients in virtually every industry. Ross Oppenheimer, a partner in the firm, states, "Our services include accounting and tax preparation, and we can assist anyone from an individual to a corporation."

The firm is composed of highly qualified and experienced Orlando accountants with a host of specialties including certified public accountants, certified valuation analysis, financial forensics, certified fraud examination, and chartered global management. "Companies who come to us do so because of our expertise, and our fast, accurate services," explains Ross Oppenheimer.

In addition to offering tax preparation Orlando clients require, the firm will also assist employee benefit plans, litigation support, and a number of other business needs. They serve a number of industries including construction, automotive dealerships, real estate, manufacturing, condos and HOAs, and online retail, as well as government departments and nonprofit organizations.

Ross Oppenheimer points out that client referral has kept the company going, and helped them to gain the respect that they have in the area. He states that their dedication to respond to clients quickly is the main thing that has fueled their continuing growth. The firm offers a free initial consultation to assist potential clients in determining the extent of their accounting needs, and stay up to date on the latest regulations and news regarding business finance.

The firm's website offers financial calculators as well as an online portal for existing customers and other tools that clients can utilize to assist them with their business finance needs. Oppenheimer urges businesses in Orlando who need accounting services to contact them and allow them to show why they are considered the best in the city. "We know how to keep our clients coming back," he states.
