July 21, 2021 -
Huntington Beach, CA ? A top-rated tree service marketing agency, Home Service Direct has just made a new move to help tree service providers dominate the online market. With the launch of its new SEO services, the marketing agency intends to help tree service companies get more visibility online by ranking high on search engines.

Speaking during the launch of the new SEO services, Home Service Direct?s spokesperson had the following to say, ?When property owners search for tree service on a search engine like Google, they rarely look past the first 1 to 5 results. Now, if your company?s website sits at the bottom of the results page ? or worse, on the second search results page ? you will miss out on a lot of potential leads. Our goal at Home Service Direct is to help your company?s website sit on top of the search results page.?

Speaking on the benefits of taking advantage of Search Engine Optimization (SEO), Home Service Direct?s spokesperson noted that more than 80% of consumers in the US use search engines to find local information. The marketing agency indicated that sitting at the top of Search Engine Result Pages (SERPs) not only makes the company more visible but also makes the tree service provider appear more trustworthy to the potential leads.

Home Service Direct indicated that its long-term tree service SEO guarantees an amazing Return on Investment (ROI). The agency?s chief of staff noted, ?Our customers recoup the amount they spend on SEO by doing 1 or 2 extra jobs every month from their newfound online leads. With time, as the SEO efforts start generating maximum results, the tree service companies get 10x to 20x more leads and jobs each month, compared to what they were getting before using top-rated SEO strategies.?

Home Service Direct reports that it takes approximately 2 to 3 months for their team of experts to generate maximum ROI. From there, the tree service company can generate maximum revenue from its already established position on the search engine result pages.
